Spokesman Says Could Be Error

Planes Believed American Bomb Demilitarized Zone

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A flight of planes bombed a bridge in the demilitarized zone dividing South and North Viet Nam and a U.S. spokesman said today it is believed the planes involved were American.

He said the bombing Thursday night could be "assumed to be in error."

He added: "If an investigation shows that the bombs hit in the demilitarized zone, this is clearly a departure from the rules. We have not previously struck the zone."

The spokesman said in a statement:

"Initial reports from Vietnamese sources indicate that about 2100 (9 p.m.) yesterday aircraft bombed the north end of the bridge crossing Ben Hai River on Highway 1 in the demilitarized zone. Further reports from the Vietnamese army indicate that there were three Vietnamese killed on the north end of the bridge. The bridge was reported destroyed.

"Observers allege the aircraft were U.S. An investigation is under way at this time, but it is believed that the aircraft were U.S."

The bridge is about 80 miles north of Da Nang, the big U.S. air base 380 miles north of Saigon.

It was not known if the dead were North or South Vietnamese but since they were at the north end of the structure it was believed they were North Vietnamese. About 40 planes made the attack, Vietnamese sources said.

The International Control Commission began an immediate investigation. India, Canada and Poland compose the commission.

In other air activity, two U.S. Air Force jet planes were shot down in North Viet Nam Thursday by automatic weapons fire during a six-plane F105 Thunderchief raid 80 miles northwest of Hanoi, a U.S. military spokesman reported.

The pilots were listed as missing. The downings brought to 92 the number of U.S. planes shot down since air strikes began February, spokesmen said.

U.S. authorities reported these other developments:

About 40 Viet Cong staged a predawn small arms attack on a government outpost seven miles southwest of Saigon. Vietnamese casualties were light and no estimate was made of guerrilla losses.

Twenty U.S. planes bombed the Co Dinh military barracks, 13 miles west of Thanh Hoa in North Viet Nam. The same area was hit Tuesday.

In the Da Nang area, 380 miles north of Saigon, a U.S. Army helicopter killed four guerrillas with its machine guns as it supported a government operation.

U.S. Marines on patrol five miles southeast of Da Nang suffered light casualties when a tank hit a mine. A mortar round caused light losses as another Marine unit moved in to defend the damaged tank.

There were no reports yet of major contact with the Viet Cong in a big allied probe through jungle around Ben Cat, about 30 miles north of Saigon. U.S., Vietnamese, Australian and New Zealand troops began the drive Tuesday.

Snowstorm Diminishes In Rockies

Tapering Off In Most Areas; Strong Winds Continue

By The Associated Press

A late summer snowstorm, with winter's bitter elements of blowing and drifting snow, cold, ice and blustery winds, diminished across wide areas in the northern and central Rockies and adjacent Plains states today.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said that snow tapered off in most areas, except in some mountain sections, during the early morning. Strong winds continued in the storm belt and in most other western sections of the nation. But forecasters said the worst of the wintry weather appeared ended. Clear skies were reported in Montana for the first time in a week.

The Weather Bureau said the storm was one of the worst in history for September. The wintry blasts struck in the fading days of summer and temperatures in the teens in some areas were in contrast to record breaking heat in the southern Plains and south central states. The summer season ends at 2:06 a.m. EDT Sept. 23.

The storm pounded areas in Montana, Wyoming, the Dakotas and Nebraska. Strong winds swept through the warm air across the southern Rockies and into a rain belt in Midwest areas.

Snow piled up to 18 inches in the Whitefish, Mont., area near the Canadian border. The snow blanket measured 15 inches at Crawford, in western Nebraska, a record snowfall for the state in September.

At least five persons were killed in traffic accidents, three in Montana and two in Wyoming, on ice-covered highways.

Blowing snow caused four-foot drifts in central Montana. The Trail Ridge Highway, the world's highest continuous motor vehicle route in the Rocky Mountain National Park 80 miles northwest of Denver, was closed by drifting and ice glaze.

Will Defend 'Integrity,' Shastri Says

Peking Ultimatum Issued On Disputed Himalayan Section

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri said today India would defend its "territorial integrity" but did not want to give Communist China "any pretext" for aggression.

Shastri proposed a "joint investigation" of the disputed border between the two countries.

He was replying in Parliament to an ultimatum from Red China giving India three days to pull out of a disputed Himalayan border area.

He said the investigation should take place as soon as possible to determine exactly where Indian border posts are. Red China claims they are on its territory.

The offer was similar to other Indian proposals for settling the border dispute which Red China has rejected in the past. China most recently turned down a suggestion that neutral observers check the border.

In a blunt note today, the Red Chinese threatened India with "grave consequences" unless India withdraws within three days from a Tibet-Sikkim border area claimed by China.

The note did not specify what the consequences would be. But Red China struck at India in a border dispute in 1962 and the Indian army suffered a setback in the heavy fighting.

Red China's warning was interpreted in New Delhi as far more serious than the scores of

In River Near Louisiana U. Campus

Sunken Barge Containing Lethal Chlorine Located

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — A sunken barge containing 600 tons of lethal chlorine was located late Thursday in the Mississippi River near the Louisiana State University campus.

Navy divers positively identified the sunken craft as the one which touched off a large-scale search when it was reported missing last Sunday in the aftermath of Hurricane Betsy.

Army Engineers, who said they were acting under orders from the White House, waited until 11:45 p.m. to announce the discovery.

Shipping in the busy Mississippi was immediately reopened.

"The barge is safe, and there is no danger of any kind," said Col. Thomas J. Bowen, Army district engineer.

Authorities scheduled a midmorning briefing session with Gov. John J. McKeithen to discuss salvage operations.

Meanwhile, the clean-up from Betsy, which unleashed death and destruction on Louisiana a week ago, went on throughout the stricken areas. A few sections remained under water. Two more bodies were found in New Orleans, raising the known dead to 70 — plus 12 in other states.

More than 10,000 persons remain homeless in the New Orleans area.

Preliminary estimates indicate Betsy may be the costliest hurricane in history with damages exceeding one billion dollars.

A 300-block area of New Orleans remained sealed as police continued the job of searching for bodies and sanitation workers removed the rotten carcasses of dead animals. Water was slowly receding in the area.

The federal government rushed planes and a Navy destroyer to Baton Rouge to participate in the search, but it was a simple hand-carried device that located the barge.

A "bottom profiler," a recently developed device, which scans water bottoms was used to find the barge.

Army Engineers advised maritime interests to use caution in navigating the Mississippi in the area.

The White House had taken a special interest in the search, and a direct telephone line was installed from the search operations center to Washington.

Authorities had estimated there was enough chlorine in the barge to kill 40,000 persons if released accidentally in a heavily populated area.

More than 100,000 gas masks were rushed to Baton Rouge for possible use.

There was no word when engineers would begin operations to raise the barge from its muddy bed in the Mississippi. It was located about 200 feet off the east bank of the river.

Robena Mine Of U.S. Steel Hit By Strike

1,200 In Sympathy With West Virginia And Ohio Miners

BELLAIRE, Ohio (AP)—Some 1,200 Pennsylvania miners at the big Robena complex of U. S. Steel Corp. went on strike today in sympathy with striking miners in Ohio and West Virginia.

The Robena strikers at Masontown, Pa., are members of Local 6321, United Mine Workers District 4. They have been at odds periodically with the U.S. Steel management and only last week were on strike in a dispute over work rules and seniority.

Meanwhile, a deadlock held fast in the wildcat strike of 16 coal mines in northeastern Ohio and West Virginia's northern panhandle.

Both union and Hanna Coal Co. officials agreed their hands were tied until the miners return to their jobs.

The strike, idling 3,600 miners, was touched off by the firings of six workers Sept. 7 at the Hanna company's Ireland mine near Moundsville, W.Va., for allegedly taking part in a wildcat strike the week before.

Miners at the Ireland mine walked off the job soon after the firings and roving pickets spread the walkout the next day.

Thomas A. Williams, president of the United Mine Workers Union District 6, said "the union will go down the line" in

A resident of the street witnessed the accident and halted the trucker. The witness said the child was standing in front of the vehicle with her hand resting on the bumper.

The child suffered a fractured skull and crushed chest.

Would Cut Military Manpower

Civilians Might Replace GIs In Noncombat Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new program set in motion by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara may lead eventually to wholesale shifts of civilians into noncombat jobs now handled by men in uniform.

The result would be a reduction of U.S. military manpower, now planned to reach close to 3 million, and a corresponding reduction in reliance on the draft to fill the ranks.

A top level manpower utilization board will convene this fall to monitor the first phase of the new program and to develop plans for enlargement of it in subsequent years.

McNamara told a news conference Thursday that in its initial phase the program calls for hiring some 60,000 civilians during 1966 to perform administrative, clerical, supply and maintenance, medical, transportation and similar jobs now performed by military personnel.

"This will release some 75,000 officers and enlisted men who are now required for those duties," McNamara said.

He added: "This program will not only permit acceleration of our military buildup but it will also enable us to decrease the number of draftees who would otherwise be required."

He estimated that the drop of about 75,000 in inductions would span perhaps 18 months' time.

The draft recently was sharply turned upward, from about 17,000 men a month to a soon-to-be-achieved 35,000 a month, to help attain a 340,000-man increase in the regular forces because of the war in Viet Nam.

McNamara explained that what he called the saving of 15,000 men is made possible by substituting 60,000 civilians who will hold their jobs for a long time in place of military men who would normally be expected to serve relatively short tours of duty and who would have to be replaced.

Authorities figure that even though the civilians may be expected to draw higher pay than the military men they replace, the operation will save money in the long run.

This, they said, is because civilians will have to be trained only one time, whereas military men whose tours run out have to be supplanted by other men who must go through the expen-

Iraq Crushes Bid For Coup, Report Says

CAIRO (AP) — An attempted coup in Iraq has been crushed, Iraqi sources in Cairo said today.

The bid to take over the government came while President Abdel Salam Aref was absent from the country attending the Casablanca Arab summit meeting.

It was put down by the president's brother, the sources said.

They said the coup was attempted Thursday when the newly-installed prime minister, Brig. Aref Abdul Razzak, tried to take over the radio, highways, railroads and other key installations.

Gen. Abdel Rahman Aref, deputy chief of staff of the Iraqi army and brother of the president, heard of the plans and ordered troops to occupy key installations in advance of the attempted takeover by Razzak.

Razzak and aides were arrested when they tried to carry out the coup. Later Razzak, his wife, six children and five aides were ordered to leave Iraq and were flown to Cairo aboard a special Iraqi plane.

Razzak arrived in Cairo unexpectedly Thursday night and was installed in Tahra palace on the outskirts of the city, government residence reserved for visiting dignitaries.

U.S. Airplane Carrying 30 Feared Down

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Coast Guard said today a Pan American World Airways plane was believed down with 30 persons aboard near Antigua in the British West Indies.

Coast Guard search and rescue headquarters at Miami said the Boeing 707 jet, en route from Martinique to Angieua, was not heard from after making a routine request at 6:30 a.m. EST for permission to make its landing approach at Antigua.

Antigua is about 1,100 miles southeast of Miami.

The passenger plane carried 21 passengers and a crew of 9.

In New York, Pan American said it had been informed by a resident of Plymouth, on the island of Montserrat, that he had seen a large plane flying low and then heard an explosion.

Second Bill Urges Lake, River Canal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to authorize construction of a Lake Erie to Ohio River canal via Oil City and Erie, Pa., was introduced in the House Thursday by Rep. Albert W. Johnson, R-Pa.

The proposal contrasts with one backed by Rep. Michael Kirwan, D-Ohio, for a canal between the Ohio River at Beaver Falls, Pa., and Lake Erie via Youngstown, Ohio.

Under Johnson's measure, the canal would use the Allegheny River from East Brady, Pa., to Oil City and thence into the French Creek Basin to Erie and Lake Erie.

Police, Fire Posts Filled By Vodrey

Two men have been named to fill vacancies in the police and fire departments, Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said today.

Ralph Eugene Chapman of Ohio Ave. has been reinstated at his own request in a fire department post he resigned June 1. He will return to duty Saturday.

Dwight Garvey, 125 W. 2nd St., has been named a police department patrolman and is scheduled to begin his duties Oct. 1.

Chapman's return raises the fire department to its full complement of men, the director explained. Chapman served approximately three years before resigning on June 1. Vodrey pointed out that Chapman applied to return to the department under a Civil Service rule that allows a man who resigns to seek reinstatement if a vacancy occurs within a year.

Would Cut Military Manpower

Civilians Might Replace GIs In Noncombat Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new program set in motion by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara may lead eventually to wholesale shifts of civilians into noncombat jobs now handled by men in uniform.

The result would be a reduction of U.S. military manpower, now planned to reach close to 3 million, and a corresponding reduction in reliance on the draft to fill the ranks.

A top level manpower utilization board will convene this fall to monitor the first phase of the new program and to develop plans for enlargement of it in subsequent years.

McNamara told a news conference Thursday that in its initial phase the program calls for hiring some 60,000 civilians during 1966 to perform administrative, clerical, supply and maintenance, medical, transportation and similar jobs now performed by military personnel.

"This will release some 75,000 officers and enlisted men who are now required for those duties," McNamara said.

He added: "This program will not only permit acceleration of our military buildup but it will also enable us to decrease the number of draftees who would otherwise be required."

He estimated that the drop of about 75,000 in inductions would span perhaps 18 months' time.

The draft recently was sharply turned upward, from about 17,000 men a month to a soon-to-be-achieved 35,000 a month, to help attain a 340,000-man increase in the regular forces because of the war in Viet Nam.

McNamara explained that what he called the saving of 15,000 men is made possible by substituting 60,000 civilians who will hold their jobs for a long time in place of military men who would normally be expected to serve relatively short tours of duty and who would have to be replaced.

Authorities figure that even though the civilians may be expected to draw higher pay than the military men they replace, the operation will save money in the long run.

This, they said, is because civilians will have to be trained only one time, whereas military men whose tours run out have to be supplanted by other men who must go through the expen-

Iraq Crushes Bid For Coup, Report Says

CAIRO (AP) — An attempted coup in Iraq has been crushed, Iraqi sources in Cairo said today.

The bid to take over the government came while President Abdel Salam Aref was absent from the country attending the Casablanca Arab summit meeting.

It was put down by the president's brother, the sources said.

They said the coup was attempted Thursday when the newly-installed prime minister, Brig. Aref Abdul Razzak, tried to take over the radio, highways, railroads and other key installations.

Gen. Abdel Rahman Aref, deputy chief of staff of the Iraqi army and brother of the president, heard of the plans and ordered troops to occupy key installations in advance of the attempted takeover by Razzak.

Razzak and aides were arrested when they tried to carry out the coup. Later Razzak, his wife, six children and five aides were ordered to leave Iraq and were flown to Cairo aboard a special Iraqi plane.

Razzak arrived in Cairo unexpectedly Thursday night and was installed in Tahra palace on the outskirts of the city, government residence reserved for visiting dignitaries.

U.S. Airplane Carrying 30 Feared Down

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Coast Guard said today a Pan American World Airways plane was believed down with 30 persons aboard near Antigua in the British West Indies.

Coast Guard search and rescue headquarters at Miami said the Boeing 707 jet, en route from Martinique to Angieua, was not heard from after making a routine request at 6:30 a.m. EST for permission to make its landing approach at Antigua.

Antigua is about 1,100 miles southeast of Miami.

The passenger plane carried 21 passengers and a crew of 9.

In New York, Pan American said it had been informed by a resident of Plymouth, on the island of Montserrat, that he had seen a large plane flying low and then heard an explosion.

Second Bill Urges Lake, River Canal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to authorize construction of a Lake Erie to Ohio River canal via Oil City and Erie, Pa., was introduced in the House Thursday by Rep. Albert W. Johnson, R-Pa.

The proposal contrasts with one backed by Rep. Michael Kirwan, D-Ohio, for a canal between the Ohio River at Beaver Falls, Pa., and Lake Erie via Youngstown, Ohio.

Under Johnson's measure, the canal would use the Allegheny River from East Brady, Pa., to Oil City and thence into the French Creek Basin to Erie and Lake Erie.

Welder's Torch Held Cause Of Silo Blast

WASHINGTON (AP)—An explosion in a Titan missile silo near Searcy, Ark., last month was caused by a welder's torch bumping against a line carrying inflammable fluid, Pentagon investigators have reported.

The Aug. 10 blast killed 53 civilian workers, presumably including the unnamed welder.

Squatter Gets 'Home' In Jail

A 78-year-old man who admitted making his home in an abandoned railroad scale house near Westgate School was given a 30-day County Jail term today in Municipal Court on a trespassing charge.

Arthur Steffen, an East Liverpool native, agreed with Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff that the jail will provide him with a warm shelter and food until he locates a home.

"I have a lot of relatives, but I don't want to live with them," Steffen told the judge. "I want to be on my own."

The charge was filed by Sgt. W. A. Mettler of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. police, stationed in Steubenville. It alleged that Steffen trespassed on railroad property and refused to leave.

"If I leave I will have to live in the woods," Steffen told the court. But when the judge offered him the alternative of the County Jail, he replied: "That suits me fine."

Sgt. Mettler testified he received a complaint on April 30 from the Pennsy's Yellow Creek tower that Steffen was residing in the former scale house, a small building on the railroad right-of-way near Westgate. He said Steffen obeyed an order to leave at that time, but later returned.

The scale house once was used to weigh railroad cars, but now it is utilized primarily as a telephone point for railroad crews in emergencies, Sgt. Mettler said. Queried by the court, the officer said the railroad plans to tear down the old building.

JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP) — James L. Floyd, 18, has been indicted by the Ashtabula County Grand Jury for first-degree murder in the beating death of a former Ashtabula policeman.

60-Day Term Given Driver

John E. Caplinger, 52, of 718 Central Ave., was sentenced to a 60-day term in County Jail after Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff convicted him today on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol on Sept. 2.

Judge Chertoff also suspended Caplinger's driver's license for a year and fined him $200 and costs. Noting that Caplinger also faced the court in October 1959 on a charge of driving while intoxicated, the judge commented:

"Apparently you did not learn a lesson the first time, but I hope this will impress upon you the seriousness of the offense on which you have been convicted."

The court entered a not guilty plea for the defendant and then heard testimony from Patrolman William A. Devon, the arresting officer, and Capt. Robert Pyle, who was at headquarters when Caplinger was booked.

Caplinger stood on his Constitutional right not to testify.

Officer Devon said he was operating a cruiser on Pennsylvania Ave. about 11:30 a. m. Sept. 2 when an unidentified motorist told him he had followed Caplinger's car and noted it weaving erratically. The patrolman said he trailed Caplinger for two or three blocks and noted the defendant's car was "weaving back and forth across the center line."

He said he found a nearly-empty bottle of wine on the front seat of the defendant's car. Caplinger's breath showed a strong odor of alcohol and he staggered when he walked, the officer said.

Both the patrolman and the captain said Caplinger was "highly intoxicated" and Pyle added that the defendant's speech was "incoherent."

City Men Unhurt As Car, Truck Hit

Two city men escaped injury when their car collided with a tractor - trailer tanker truck on Route 7, a mile and two-tenths north of Steubenville at 6:50 a. m. today.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol said the crash involved a car driven by William C. Dorsey of 515 Virginia Ave. and the truck operated by Harold Emeneely, 49, of Bethany, W. Va.

The trucker had his right turn signals operating and then swung left as Dorsey started to pass, officers said.

Dorsey's car was heavily damaged. A passenger, William L. Smith, 54, of 1256½ Pennsylvania Ave., complained of injuries but was not treated.

Emeneely was cited for making an improper turn, while Dorsey was cited for failure to give an adequate signal.

Grade Crossing Hearing's Held

BEAVER — The Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission held a hearing Thursday at the Courthouse on the elimination of a Pennsylvania Railroad grade crossing on New York Ave. in Rochester, with no objections voiced.

Elimination of the crossing was in the original plans of the State Highway Department for construction of a Rochester bypass. The state had planned to build a bridge across to the railroad to provide access to the waterfront for Rochester.

This proposal was dropped from the bypass plans and since then the highway department had petitioned the PUCO to drop the proposal.

If the PUCO rules the bridge can be ruled out, the highway department said it will pay for paving accesses to the crossing and the railroad said it will install a flasher system.

The judge granted the continuance after the woman asked time to obtain legal counsel.

Arthur Steffen, an East Liverpool native, agreed with Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff that the jail will provide him with a warm shelter and food until he locates a home.

"I have a lot of relatives, but I don't want to live with them," Steffen told the judge. "I want to be on my own."

The charge was filed by Sgt. W. A. Mettler of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. police, stationed in Steubenville. It alleged that Steffen trespassed on railroad property and refused to leave.

"If I leave I will have to live in the woods," Steffen told the court. But when the judge offered him the alternative of the County Jail, he replied: "That suits me fine."

Sgt. Mettler testified he received a complaint on April 30 from the Pennsy's Yellow Creek tower that Steffen was residing in the former scale house, a small building on the railroad right-of-way near Westgate. He said Steffen obeyed an order to leave at that time, but later returned.

The scale house once was used to weigh railroad cars, but now it is utilized primarily as a telephone point for railroad crews in emergencies, Sgt. Mettler said. Queried by the court, the officer said the railroad plans to tear down the old building.

An $85 travel allowance was approved for Donald Roberts, county mental health director, for a conference with state officials at Columbus on mental health programs.

60-Day Term Given Driver

John E. Caplinger, 52, of 718 Central Ave., was sentenced to a 60-day term in County Jail after Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff convicted him today on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol on Sept. 2.

Judge Chertoff also suspended Caplinger's driver's license for a year and fined him $200 and costs. Noting that Caplinger also faced the court in October 1959 on a charge of driving while intoxicated, the judge commented:

"Apparently you did not learn a lesson the first time, but I hope this will impress upon you the seriousness of the offense on which you have been convicted."

The court entered a not guilty plea for the defendant and then heard testimony from Patrolman William A. Devon, the arresting officer, and Capt. Robert Pyle, who was at headquarters when Caplinger was booked.

Caplinger stood on his Constitutional right not to testify.

Officer Devon said he was operating a cruiser on Pennsylvania Ave. about 11:30 a. m. Sept. 2 when an unidentified motorist told him he had followed Caplinger's car and noted it weaving erratically. The patrolman said he trailed Caplinger for two or three blocks and noted the defendant's car was "weaving back and forth across the center line."

He said he found a nearly-empty bottle of wine on the front seat of the defendant's car. Caplinger's breath showed a strong odor of alcohol and he staggered when he walked, the officer said.

Both the patrolman and the captain said Caplinger was "highly intoxicated" and Pyle added that the defendant's speech was "incoherent."

City Men Unhurt As Car, Truck Hit

Two city men escaped injury when their car collided with a tractor - trailer tanker truck on Route 7, a mile and two-tenths north of Steubenville at 6:50 a. m. today.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol said the crash involved a car driven by William C. Dorsey of 515 Virginia Ave. and the truck operated by Harold Emeneely, 49, of Bethany, W. Va.

The trucker had his right turn signals operating and then swung left as Dorsey started to pass, officers said.

Dorsey's car was heavily damaged. A passenger, William L. Smith, 54, of 1256½ Pennsylvania Ave., complained of injuries but was not treated.

Emeneely was cited for making an improper turn, while Dorsey was cited for failure to give an adequate signal.

Grade Crossing Hearing's Held

BEAVER — The Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission held a hearing Thursday at the Courthouse on the elimination of a Pennsylvania Railroad grade crossing on New York Ave. in Rochester, with no objections voiced.

Elimination of the crossing was in the original plans of the State Highway Department for construction of a Rochester bypass. The state had planned to build a bridge across to the railroad to provide access to the waterfront for Rochester.

This proposal was dropped from the bypass plans and since then the highway department had petitioned the PUCO to drop the proposal.

If the PUCO rules the bridge can be ruled out, the highway department said it will pay for paving accesses to the crossing and the railroad said it will install a flasher system.

The judge granted the continuance after the woman asked time to obtain legal counsel.

Sen. Fulbright, The Gadfly

Sen. Fulbright of Arkansas bears a strong resemblance to Ohio's late Sen. Taft in one respect.

When he makes a speech, he says something. Usually, it is not popular. Most of the time it cuts across the grain of prevailing opinion.

But when the idea has soaked in, it turns out to have been worth the controversy it created. This is likely to be true of Sen. Fulbright's latest speech, in which he said President Johnson over-reacted in the Dominican crisis because his advisers gave him a bum steer.

Sen. Fulbright is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which makes him one of the key figures of government. His comment is a solar plexus blow at the State Department, responsible for informing the White House about crises in foreign affairs.

His comment also will draw blood from all who are supersensitive to the suggestion that the United States instinctively over-reacts to the suspicion of Communist involvement. He thinks this had something to do with what happened in the Dominican crisis; that the presence of Communists was exaggerated into a full-blown Communist scare. Communists always are present, but they are not always in control, he explains.

The result made Latin Americans feel they face a Hobson's choice in their political affairs: despotism under communism, or despotism under imperialism.

This is a harsh summation.

Sen. Fulbright has become a man of harsh ideas in his allotted field of senatorial responsibility. Early in 1964 he rubbed feelings raw with his list of foreign policy "myths." Early this year he startled Washington with the announcement he would not manage the administration's foreign aid bill. Last June, he called for a negotiated settlement in Viet Nam, because he said the United States could not force unconditional surrender. In July he startled Washington by charging brazen business interference with a government - approved arrangement between Romania and Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. And now in September he has added to his reputation as a blaster of complacency by criticizing what was done last spring in the Dominican Republic. His reputation as a gadfly has been earned.

The odd thing about Sen. Fulbright is that few agree with him at the time, though eventually most of his critics come around to the point of view that what he said needed to be said.

The DAR Creed

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, and for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principals of freedom, equality, justice and humanity, for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

"I, therefore, believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies.

The above is "The American's Creed," the guiding light of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

It is reprinted in recognition of the local Rebecca Griscom chapter of the DAR which each year at this time does its part in reminding us of the individual responsibility which lies with the proper observance of the Constitution of the United States.

Personalities Win Votes

Republicans in New York and throughout the country are watching their party's standard bearer in the race for New York City mayor with mixed feelings.

U.S. Rep. John V. Lindsay is not a sure winner, but he is a strong contender in a city that has no use for Republicans. Hence, the mixed feelings of Republicans about Rep. Lindsay. They hope he can win and are afraid he might.

His campaign strategy is to dissociate himself from the Republican organization in New York City and New York state. His views in Congress have opened a chasm between him and Republicans elsewhere in the nation who hold the party's middle ground and its ultra-right enclaves.

If Rep. Lindsay calls himself a Republican, they say, he is abusing the title.

But their scorn does not wither the lush possibility that this attractive man who calls himself a Republican may become mayor of the nation's largest city—and what would that do the Republicans who think he is a political renegade?

Probably nothing at all.

When Fiorello LaGuardia, who called himself a Republican, became mayor of New York City nothing happened to Republicans who refused to think of LaGuardia as one of them. He got elected while other Republicans couldn't get elected, but that was the extent of it.

There is further evidence of the same thing in the ability of Ohio Sen. Frank J. Lausche to get elected as a Democrat, though Democrats in his own state and elsewhere look at him askance because he votes like a Republican.

There is still further evidence in the case of Illinois Sen. Everett Dirksen, who manages to be a stauch Republican though bearing a deserved reputation as a staunch supporter of many policies of the Johnson administration.

The moral of all is not elusive: Personalities win more votes in a showdown than partisanship.

Keep 'Em Short

Parent - teacher organizations here and in neighboring communities are plunging into their activities for another school term.

PTA's have been both the recipient of praise and the object of sharp criticism.

It is not our intention to get into the pros and cons at this time. But we have one word of advice to all PTA's — keep your meetings as brief as possible. Long, drawn-out affairs have a tendency to curtail rather than increase attendance.

Behind - the scenes groundwork by your directors, executive committee or by whatever name your governing unit goes can help eliminate much needless discussion the night of the meetings.

There has to be debate, to be sure. But nothing can kill the effectiveness of an organization quicker than senseless argument. Preparation beforehand will assure more time for essential business.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: Your aunt and I have been busy wrapping up another summer and putting it away in mothballs, so to speak.

Besides getting our summer finery out of the way, we have been storing summer ideas we are tired of, too, such as iced tea, screens in the windows, vacation folders and visitors.

We have stowed away our picnic gear and put away our fishing tackle. We have quit talking about the "long hot summer" and what the Reds were going to do during the rainy season in Viet Nam.

We also have filed and tried to forget Reds in Viet Nam before the rainy season started. There are a number of things like this that should be put in storage, along with bathing suits, water skis, outboard motors and sun-tan lotion.

Some other things we won't be needing any more are memoirs of the Kennedy administration, the insuperability of the New York Yankees and news about Mayor Wagner's hold on New York voters.

We can quit brooding about the local water shortage, Japanese beatles, what is going to happen to secondary roads and cut down the speed of their go-devils.

There is no further need to think about topless bathing suits, the Dominican Republic, Gemini V and the San Francisco newspaper situation. Time has taken care of these problems for us.

Your aunt and I have quit worrying about the outcome of the latest presidential campaign — and if you think that one hasn't been forgotten in a hurry ask the fellow next to you in the ticket line at the stadium who ran with Goldwater on the Republican ticket. Whatever happened to him anyway — the other fellow?

By this time, you have realized your aunt and I are being acutely conscious of the passage of time and the way time takes care of all things.

Time will take care of Southeast Asia, if given a chance. It will take care of the wild rush to Washington by every pipsqueak local politician and lobbyist. They say the only thing that never changes is change, itself.

We are squared away for fall and winter, having put summer behind us. This winter we are going to listen to more music and pay less attention to television, except when it puts on adult programs.

We are going to read some things we never got around to reading.

We are going to sleep later in the morning and sack up earlier at night.

To the fullest extent of our ability, we are going to jump to fewer conclusions on the basis of insufficient evidence.

It always has seemed to us that autumn is the ideal time to clean the slate and start over. Spring is no good. Winter is too late in the game. There are more important things to do at the beginning of summer. But autumn . . .

Ah!

Why don't you put away that first baseman's mitt, kiddo, and join us Golden Agers. Now that you have become a man, it's time to wipe your slate clean, along with your nose.

Both of us send our regards to you and yours. May you get sere in the leaf and long in the tooth gracefully.

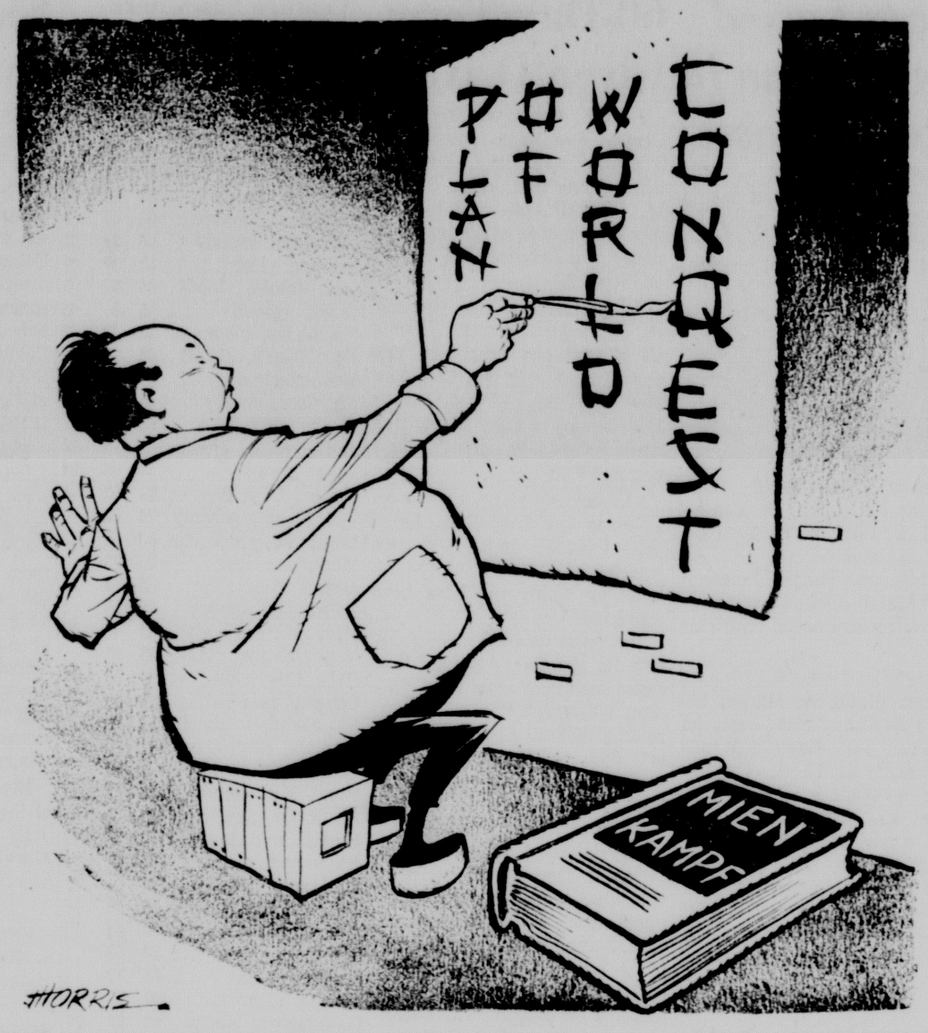
Odd Facts

The dog population of America for the last 35 years has been increasing faster than the human population — having soared 200 per cent, while the human gain has been but 50 per cent. All told, the natiion's 22 million canines represent $500 million a year on such items as food, clothing, shelter, training, recreation and medical care.

A date palm can bear fruit for as long as two hundred years.

Doesn't He Know How Book Ends?



East Germany—An Occupied Country

By Henry Taylor

EAST BERLIN

East Germany is not a satellite country. It is an occupied country. Current and growing comment in the United States about the significance of new economic twists and turns and the reported shift from rigid Moscow control sound mighty peculiar when you're here.

There is a uniformed Soviet commandant and his administrative staff on duty in every East German center and in more than 100 communities, right down to the grass roots.

More than 300,000 Russian troops are stationed in East Germany. These comprise 14 fully mechanized divisions with their platoons of tanks.

I reported from Hungary that, though the Red Hungarian government denies it, a Red Army division encircles the 1.2 million policed people of Budapest. Well, 42,500 Red soldiers ring Berlin, where once their horses, men and iron moved toward the final day and toward history's most concentrated artillery saturation of a single target.

THIS IS the Kremlin's most western force. Several of the divisions stand only 93 miles from the Rhine.

Our own European military command considers these 300,000 advance troops to be the cream of the Red Army. "The best they've got," our intelligence specialists tell me.

All are commanded by battle-tested Soviet four-star Gen. Koshevoy from his immense headquarters at Wumadorf, 30 miles from Potsdam. If this is not an occupied country, and not a satellite, there never was one.

East Germany has no national interest, of course, in Viet Nam. But, pushing the phony "Yanks Get Out of Viet Nam" in order to polish Kremlin apples, stooge President Walter Ulbricht sent "student" goons to break up the Potsdam living quarters of our Military Liaison Mission to the Soviet Forces.

They tore down the American flag and its flagpole, broke 200 windows, smashed all the furniture and turned hoses into the closets and drawers to ruin all the Americans' clothes they couldn't steal and carry.

Mission commander Col. Paul Skowronek, a very no-nonsense hero in the American Army, hauled a new pole on top of his own car for 20 miles and ran up a new flag, with everybody thereabouts at full salute that very night. The Soviet, I gladly add, is paying for every nickel of the repairs.

There are no concentration camps (or Russian troops) in Czechoslovakia, as I reported from Prague, but there are concentration camps here, and an equivalent as close as the Brandenburg zone within blocks of where I write this dispatch.

WEST GERMAN government intelligence chiefs tell me that the East German SSD (Staatssicherheitsdienst) security service has about 12,000 agents in West Berlin alone.

I wanted to find and see German author Prof. Arnold Zweig and his brother Stefan. The Western intelligence chiefs located them for me but warned against the visit. "It could cost them terrible; just that you came," they stated.

People get shot if they leave this country, tossed into jail if they talk back or slow down on the job, cannot quit the job the Central Labor Office assigns them or seek better employment, and they find their children's future life taken over by block wardens of the Communist party.

The wardens are present in every apartment building (usually the building superintendent) and each cluster of eight houses or less. They're in charge of occupant indoctrination, reporting resistance, approving all requests as the first court of appeal (even to going on a vacation) and have official control of the children.

Children now perform many emergency tasks. They're herded together by the party block wardens and picked up in buses or vans which are generally painted with the screecher seen throughout the satellite states: "Forward to Victory through Communism."

They form the main snow-sweeping brigades or help with the grain harvesting when it's behind. For 18 straight years, harvests here have always been behind.

THE EAST GERMAN government has built a model steel town, Moscow - designed, at Eisenhuttenstadt. The commissars moved in 37,000 people.

The location is politically contrived on the west bank of the Oder to propagandize what Moscow calls "a frontier of peace with Poland." But this location Moscow specified makes East Germany dependent on Soviet ore and Polish coal.

Nevertheless, a recent East German survey there pridefully reports that of Eisenhuttenstadt's new 37,000 population only 200 go to church.

All these are the kind of things that make you wonder — and wonder — about U.S. reports of shifts from rigid Moscow controls.

Letter To Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Now that we have a state law concerning people allowing dogs to run loose, I think it's about time something should be done about enforcing the new law.

I see in The Review the dog warden has a new gun to shoot tranquilizers. I sure hope he puts it to good use and gets rid of some of the dogs that are allowed to run loose. And when he does catch them, he should quit giving them to someone else who will let them loose again. I love dogs as much as any one, but I don't like them to ruin my flower bed and run and snap at me when I walk down the street.

The dog warden has no listed telephone. You have to call the police and some times they can't locate him. I think he should have his phone listed so people could get him when they need him.

If the law can't be enforced with a part-time warden, then we should have a full - time man. Surely, we pay enough taxes to rate one. Maybe if the court cracked down a little harder on the violators people would start to obey the law.

Military In Space

By David Lawrence

Washington Begins To Realize Its Importance

A belated decision to spend billions for the defense of the United States in "near space" rather than concentrate solely on civilian trips to the moon has been reached. Military men have been arguing for a long time that Russia's primary interest in space development is military. The United States, on the other hand, has been emphasizing scientific research, lunar exploration and possible discoveries in the planetary field.

David Lawrence

It has begun to dawn on official Washington that while it may not be as efficient to use nuclear weapons from space as it is from missile bases there is a distinct opportunity to carry on accurate observation and other military missions from high altitudes.

President Johnson has just approved building a manned orbiting laboratory by the military after years of bickering inside the government and continuous expressions of skepticism about the military value of space.

A closer look at Soviet programs and a satisfactory experiment with two Americans flying around the earth for eight days have opened the eyes of everyone to the military possibilities.

UP TO NOW, more than $12 billion has been set aside for manned space flights to the moon. It has been planned to spend an additional $10 billion in that direction, together with billions more in other non-military space programs.

Now the emphasis is changing. Few details have been revealed, but it is known at least five or six major military satellite programs are under way.

U.S. News & World Report said recently:

"The 'Samos' photo-intelligence satellites have exceeded all expectations, keeping the United States informed of Soviet missile sites, nuclear progress in Red China and Communist troop movements in both countries. They parachute back pictures with 1,000 times the resolution of standard TV images.

"After an uncertain start, 'Midas' infra-red detectors are now able to detect Soviet rocket launchings by picking up telltale exhaust gases and transsignals.

"The 'Ferret' is a version of 'Samos,' equipped for electronic intelligence and communications eavesdropping. It is said to be useful for monitoring radar and radio traffic near Russia's major rocket-testing sites, tracking down coded or scrambled transmissions and relaying them to U.S. listening posts.

"Other satellite systems are proving equally useful. . . .

"'Transit' satellites are furnishing missile - carrying Polaris submarines with precise navigation. Six 'Vela' satellites —equipped with radiation detectors—are in orbit to make certain that Russia cannot, undetected, break the nuclear-test ban in space. . . .

"What is envisioned now are giant 'national space platforms' at the center of military operations, directing fleets of interceptors and destroyers, rescue and logistic vehicles. Each platform would carry 10 to 12 men, stay up for months and possibly years."

THERE ARE other plans having to do with possible "futuristic" weapons that might destroy enemy targets from outer space. These are still in the theoretical stage.

One thing is clear—control of space by a single nation or group of nations would mean an end to any balance of power on earth.

It is interesting to note that on Oct. 7, 1963, Louis C. Wyman, Republican, then a member of Congress and formerly attorney general of New Hampshire, submitted a minority report to the house appropriations committee, in which he criticized at length the administration's indifference to the military significance of space developments. He said:

"As a first priority rather than racing to the moon, the United States should establish and maintain an integrated weapons system in inner space within manned space capsules that have a capability to observe, intercept and, if necessary, destroy other objects in space."

Mr. Wyman's extensive report will go down in history as a remarkable prophecy as well as an interesting example of how often minority reports become majority opinion.

Fantasy, But Somber One

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The war between India and Pakistan — with Red China dancing around the edges and now butting in — has become a kind of fantasy, but a somber one.

Warned to keep their nose out by the United States, which they call a paper tiger, the Red Chinese could hardly hope to save face if they obeyed. Besides, they have a big stake in seeing India lose.

Thus, by keeping troops along the northern edge of India, the Chinese have weakened the Indians' ability to fight Pakistan. They have had to divert half their forces to watching the Chinese.

Since democratic India is the ideological rival of authoritarian China in Asia, so long as it survives and prospers, if it prospers, it provides an alternative to communism. This is unendurable for the Chinese.

Therefore, the destruction of India benefits China which, unlike Russia, has plumped for Pakistan in this war. The Soviets, along with the United States and the United Nations, have wanted a cease-fire to end the fighting.

Pakistan, once considered this country's most fervent ally in Asia, began to cool and turn to China when, after the latter's assault on India in 1962, this country began to arm the Indians.

It had previously armed Pakistan much better. But the population of India outnumbers that of Pakistan by more than 4 to 1. So, if India and Pakistan were ever equally armed, Pakistan wouldn't have much chance.

This is probably the basic reason why Pakistan moved into disputed Kashmir last month — to hit before India got armed any better — and began the fighting, a sort of now-or-never tactic.

But neither India nor Pakistan is equipped for a really long war. Both sides know it. And last week Pakistan must have shocked its Chinese friends by suggesting the United States try to settle things.

Pakistan's President Mohammed Ayub Khan said this country should use its "enormous influence" to bring a settlement because it "has a role to play in this part of the world and ought to play it more positively."

But any further intrusion of the United States in Asia is the last thing the Chinese want and this suggestion by Pakistan must have been a blow to them. What they want is the United States out of Asia altogether.

The White House said President Johnson wants to do anything he can to achieve peace but that he believes the route is through the United Nations.

The United Nations had already sent its secretary-general, U Thant, to both India and Pakistan in search of a solution and, so far as has been revealed, got very dismal results.

Then Monday Secretary of State Dean Rusk, concerned about the itchy look of the Chinese on the Indian frontier, said "our own advice to Peking would be to stay out and let the (U.N.) Security Council settle it."

With the world looking at them after this rebuff from what they called the paper tiger, the Red Chinese Thursday reacted as if to show the United States it couldn't tell them what to do.

They told India to pull its forces out of a border area claimed by Peking about 1,000 miles away from the Indian-Pakistan fighting or face "grave consequences."

This was a grim reminder to the Indians that Red China had struck hard and suddenly in 1962 and rolled the Indians back at several points in the Himalayas.

This warning from Peking could be interpreted as a further effort to help Pakistan by compelling India to divert even more of its strength to a line between India and China.

But coming so soon after Rusk's warning, it looks more like face-saving.

Sen. Fulbright, The Gadfly

Sen. Fulbright of Arkansas bears a strong resemblance to Ohio's late Sen. Taft in one respect.

When he makes a speech, he says something. Usually, it is not popular. Most of the time it cuts across the grain of prevailing opinion.

But when the idea has soaked in, it turns out to have been worth the controversy it created. This is likely to be true of Sen. Fulbright's latest speech, in which he said President Johnson over-reacted in the Dominican crisis because his advisers gave him a bum steer.

Sen. Fulbright is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which makes him one of the key figures of government. His comment is a solar plexus blow at the State Department, responsible for informing the White House about crises in foreign affairs.

His comment also will draw blood from all who are supersensitive to the suggestion that the United States instinctively over-reacts to the suspicion of Communist involvement. He thinks this had something to do with what happened in the Dominican crisis; that the presence of Communists was exaggerated into a full-blown Communist scare. Communists always are present, but they are not always in control, he explains.

The result made Latin Americans feel they face a Hobson's choice in their political affairs: despotism under communism, or despotism under imperialism.

This is a harsh summation.

Sen. Fulbright has become a man of harsh ideas in his allotted field of senatorial responsibility. Early in 1964 he rubbed feelings raw with his list of foreign policy "myths." Early this year he startled Washington with the announcement he would not manage the administration's foreign aid bill. Last June, he called for a negotiated settlement in Viet Nam, because he said the United States could not force unconditional surrender. In July he startled Washington by charging brazen business interference with a government - approved arrangement between Romania and Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. And now in September he has added to his reputation as a blaster of complacency by criticizing what was done last spring in the Dominican Republic. His reputation as a gadfly has been earned.

The odd thing about Sen. Fulbright is that few agree with him at the time, though eventually most of his critics come around to the point of view that what he said needed to be said.

The DAR Creed

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, and for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principals of freedom, equality, justice and humanity, for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

"I, therefore, believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies.

The above is "The American's Creed," the guiding light of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

It is reprinted in recognition of the local Rebecca Griscom chapter of the DAR which each year at this time does its part in reminding us of the individual responsibility which lies with the proper observance of the Constitution of the United States.

Personalities Win Votes

Republicans in New York and throughout the country are watching their party's standard bearer in the race for New York City mayor with mixed feelings.

U.S. Rep. John V. Lindsay is not a sure winner, but he is a strong contender in a city that has no use for Republicans. Hence, the mixed feelings of Republicans about Rep. Lindsay. They hope he can win and are afraid he might.

His campaign strategy is to dissociate himself from the Republican organization in New York City and New York state. His views in Congress have opened a chasm between him and Republicans elsewhere in the nation who hold the party's middle ground and its ultra-right enclaves.

If Rep. Lindsay calls himself a Republican, they say, he is abusing the title.

But their scorn does not wither the lush possibility that this attractive man who calls himself a Republican may become mayor of the nation's largest city—and what would that do the Republicans who think he is a political renegade?

Probably nothing at all.

When Fiorello LaGuardia, who called himself a Republican, became mayor of New York City nothing happened to Republicans who refused to think of LaGuardia as one of them. He got elected while other Republicans couldn't get elected, but that was the extent of it.

There is further evidence of the same thing in the ability of Ohio Sen. Frank J. Lausche to get elected as a Democrat, though Democrats in his own state and elsewhere look at him askance because he votes like a Republican.

There is still further evidence in the case of Illinois Sen. Everett Dirksen, who manages to be a stauch Republican though bearing a deserved reputation as a staunch supporter of many policies of the Johnson administration.

The moral of all is not elusive: Personalities win more votes in a showdown than partisanship.

Keep 'Em Short

Parent - teacher organizations here and in neighboring communities are plunging into their activities for another school term.

PTA's have been both the recipient of praise and the object of sharp criticism.

It is not our intention to get into the pros and cons at this time. But we have one word of advice to all PTA's — keep your meetings as brief as possible. Long, drawn-out affairs have a tendency to curtail rather than increase attendance.

Behind - the scenes groundwork by your directors, executive committee or by whatever name your governing unit goes can help eliminate much needless discussion the night of the meetings.

There has to be debate, to be sure. But nothing can kill the effectiveness of an organization quicker than senseless argument. Preparation beforehand will assure more time for essential business.

Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: Your aunt and I have been busy wrapping up another summer and putting it away in mothballs, so to speak.

Besides getting our summer finery out of the way, we have been storing summer ideas we are tired of, too, such as iced tea, screens in the windows, vacation folders and visitors.

We have stowed away our picnic gear and put away our fishing tackle. We have quit talking about the "long hot summer" and what the Reds were going to do during the rainy season in Viet Nam.

We also have filed and tried to forget Reds in Viet Nam before the rainy season started. There are a number of things like this that should be put in storage, along with bathing suits, water skis, outboard motors and sun-tan lotion.

Some other things we won't be needing any more are memoirs of the Kennedy administration, the insuperability of the New York Yankees and news about Mayor Wagner's hold on New York voters.

We can quit brooding about the local water shortage, Japanese beatles, what is going to happen to secondary roads and cut down the speed of their go-devils.

There is no further need to think about topless bathing suits, the Dominican Republic, Gemini V and the San Francisco newspaper situation. Time has taken care of these problems for us.

Your aunt and I have quit worrying about the outcome of the latest presidential campaign — and if you think that one hasn't been forgotten in a hurry ask the fellow next to you in the ticket line at the stadium who ran with Goldwater on the Republican ticket. Whatever happened to him anyway — the other fellow?

By this time, you have realized your aunt and I are being acutely conscious of the passage of time and the way time takes care of all things.

Time will take care of Southeast Asia, if given a chance. It will take care of the wild rush to Washington by every pipsqueak local politician and lobbyist. They say the only thing that never changes is change, itself.

We are squared away for fall and winter, having put summer behind us. This winter we are going to listen to more music and pay less attention to television, except when it puts on adult programs.

We are going to read some things we never got around to reading.

We are going to sleep later in the morning and sack up earlier at night.

To the fullest extent of our ability, we are going to jump to fewer conclusions on the basis of insufficient evidence.

It always has seemed to us that autumn is the ideal time to clean the slate and start over. Spring is no good. Winter is too late in the game. There are more important things to do at the beginning of summer. But autumn . . .

Ah!

Why don't you put away that first baseman's mitt, kiddo, and join us Golden Agers. Now that you have become a man, it's time to wipe your slate clean, along with your nose.

Both of us send our regards to you and yours. May you get sere in the leaf and long in the tooth gracefully.

Odd Facts

The dog population of America for the last 35 years has been increasing faster than the human population — having soared 200 per cent, while the human gain has been but 50 per cent. All told, the nation's 22 million canines represent $500 million a year on such items as food, clothing, shelter, training, recreation and medical care.

A date palm can bear fruit for as long as two hundred years.

East Germany—An Occupied Country

By Henry Taylor

EAST BERLIN

East Germany is not a satellite country. It is an occupied country. Current and growing comment in the United States about the significance of new economic twists and turns and the reported shift from rigid Moscow control sound mighty peculiar when you're here.

There is a uniformed Soviet commandant and his administrative staff on duty in every East German center and in more than 100 communities, right down to the grass roots.

More than 300,000 Russian troops are stationed in East Germany. These comprise 14 fully mechanized divisions with their platoons of tanks.

I reported from Hungary that, though the Red Hungarian government denies it, a Red Army division encircles the 1.2 million policed people of Budapest. Well, 42,500 Red soldiers ring Berlin, where once their horses, men and iron moved toward the final day and toward history's most concentrated artillery saturation of a single target.

THIS IS the Kremlin's most western force. Several of the divisions stand only 93 miles from the Rhine.

Our own European military command considers these 300,000 advance troops to be the cream of the Red Army. "The best they've got," our intelligence specialists tell me.

All are commanded by battle-tested Soviet four-star Gen. Koshevoy from his immense headquarters at Wumadorf, 30 miles from Potsdam. If this is not an occupied country, and not a satellite, there never was one.

East Germany has no national interest, of course, in Viet Nam. But, pushing the phony "Yanks Get Out of Viet Nam" in order to polish Kremlin apples, stooge President Walter Ulbricht sent "student" goons to break up the Potsdam living quarters of our Military Liaison Mission to the Soviet Forces.

They tore down the American flag and its flagpole, broke 200 windows, smashed all the furniture and turned hoses into the closets and drawers to ruin all the Americans' clothes they couldn't steal and carry.

Mission commander Col. Paul Skowronek, a very no-nonsense hero in the American Army, hauled a new pole on top of his own car for 20 miles and ran up a new flag, with everybody thereabouts at full salute that very night. The Soviet, I gladly add, is paying for every nickel of the repairs.

There are no concentration camps (or Russian troops) in Czechoslovakia, as I reported from Prague, but there are concentration camps here, and an equivalent as close as the Brandenburg zone within blocks of where I write this dispatch.

WEST GERMAN government intelligence chiefs tell me that the East German SSD (Staatssicherheitsdienst) security service has about 12,000 agents in West Berlin alone.

I wanted to find and see German author Prof. Arnold Zweig and his brother Stefan. The Western intelligence chiefs located them for me but warned against the visit. "It could cost them terrible; just that you came," they stated.

People get shot if they leave this country, tossed into jail if they talk back or slow down on the job, cannot quit the job the Central Labor Office assigns them or seek better employment, and they find their children's future life taken over by block wardens of the Communist party.

The wardens are present in every apartment building (usually the building superintendent) and each cluster of eight houses or less. They're in charge of occupant indoctrination, reporting resistance, approving all requests as the first court of appeal (even to going on a vacation) and have official control of the children.

Children now perform many emergency tasks. They're herded together by the party block wardens and picked up in buses or vans which are generally painted with the screecher seen throughout the satellite states: "Forward to Victory through Communism."

They form the main snow-sweeping brigades or help with the grain harvesting when it's behind. For 18 straight years, harvests here have always been behind.

THE EAST GERMAN government has built a model steel town, Moscow - designed, at Eisenhuttenstadt. The commissars moved in 37,000 people.

The location is politically contrived on the west bank of the Oder to propagandize what Moscow calls "a frontier of peace with Poland." But this location Moscow specified makes East Germany dependent on Soviet ore and Polish coal.

Nevertheless, a recent East German survey there pridefully reports that of Eisenhuttenstadt's new 37,000 population only 200 go to church.

All these are the kind of things that make you wonder — and wonder — about U.S. reports of shifts from rigid Moscow controls.

Lawmen Hunt Abductor Of Doctor's Wife

ORRINGTON, Maine (AP) — Law enforcement officials and volunteers searched today for Mrs. Lynne P. McGinn, 29, a doctor's wife, abducted at gunpoint from her home by an escaper from a state mental hospital.

Roadblocks were set up at virtually every major highway or intersection in the state after Mrs. McGinn was forced from her home by Roger R. Haller, 31, of Bangor, police said.

They said the man entered the home Thursday afternoon and held Mrs. McGinn and her two children, Stacey, 4, and Pierce, 1, prisoner for several hours.

Her husband, Dr. John F. McGinn, arrived home late in the afternoon and his wife greeted him with the words, "We have company."

McGinn was held also, police said but then talked Haller into letting him leave again on the pretext of visiting a sick patient.

McGinn rushed to notify police — and then when they returned, they found his wife and station wagon were gone.

McGinn said the man identified himself and talked calmly about his activities since an escape from Bangor State Hospital Saturday night.

Haller apparently put Mrs. McGinn in the station wagon and drove off, as soon as the doctor left the house, police said. When police and McGinn arrived, only the children, unharmed remained.

Boy Dragged By Bus Down Rural Road

OREGON CITY, Ore. (AP)—As his mother watched in horro, 7-year-old Clay Moncrief was dragged down a rural highway for one mile by a school bus filled with his classmates.

The bus driver, unaware of the boy's plight, continued on to his next stop before the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Truitt Moncrief, caught up.

Clay was standing beside the front tire, dazed and in shock. His feet and legs were raw and bleeding, his cowboy boots were burned off and his clothes were in shreds.

From his hospital bed, where his condition today was satisfactory, the boy said: "I kept hitting the pavement and it hurt. Once I almost got caught under the wheels."

Mrs. Moncrief said the accident occurred as the children were returning home from school Wednesday afternoon.

"I was standing in the kitchen when the bus drove up in front. Then the bus pulled away and I heard Clay scream. His fingers were caught in the front door of the bus," Mrs. Moncrief said.

There were 38 children in the bus. Driver William Dickman said he couldn't hear the boy's screams and the boy was in a spot that didn't show in the rear view mirror.

Man In Retirement Fishes For Sharks

VANCOUVER (AP) — Len Right on doesn't fit the usual picture of a man living in retirement. He fishes for small sharks in Vancouver Harbor and fills his larder with about 200 a year.

"The meat's tasty and boneless," he says. "Sharks haven't a bone in their bodies, only cartilage in the head and spinal column. They're far more nourishing than cod.

The Steer Had Horns, Boy, 4, Heard Them

"He's having such a tough time, I wonder if that steer has horns?" a spectator commented.

Responded 4-year-old Mark Anderson of Lincoln, Neb.: "Oh, yes, he has horns. I heard them."

notes and protests that have been hurled at India by Peking in recent months. This was the first such protest with a deadline.

Just a few hours after Red China broadcast its ultimatum, deeply worried Indian officials displayed a new reluctance to even speculate on whether the war against Pakistan could still be pursued with what Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri Thursday called "unabated vigor."

A State Department spokesman said in Washington the United States is maintaining a close watch on the India-Communist China border situation. He said the United States is very concerned over the possible extension of the India-Pakistan war.

Last Monday Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Red China should stay out of the India-Pakistan conflict and let the U.N. Security Council settle it.

Two days later a direct warning against intervention was reportedly given to Red China at a meeting of U.S. and Chinese ambassadors in Warsaw.

Diplomats at United Nations headquarters in New York expressed belief that China would cross the border unless India backs down. One delegate explained that the Chinese, having announced a time limit, would lose face if they did not follow through on their ultimatum.

The Chinese warning underlined the need for India to split its forces, keeping hundreds of thousands of men tied down in the Himalayan Mountains on the northern frontier while the same time trying to strike crippling blows at Pakistan on battlefields more than 1,000 miles to the West.

Diplomatic efforts for a peaceful solution of the India-Pakistan conflict suffered a further setback Thursday when the Indians gave a cold reception to a suggestion by U.N. Secretary-General U Thant for a meeting between Indian Prime Minister Shastri and President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan.

"It would be like Churchill meeting Hitler during the Battle of Britain," an Indian official commented.

Little fighting was reported on the fronts Thursday. Indian patrols probed across the 100-foot wide Ichhogil Canal which serves as part of the defense line of the Pakistani city of Lahore. But they did not try to establish a firm beachhead, an Indian defense ministry spokesman said.

Kaul And Kosygin Discuss Ultimatum

MOSCOW (AP)— Indian Ambassador T.N. Kaul discussed the Chinese ultimatum to India today with Premier Alexei Kosygin. Informed sources said Kosygin told Kaul the Soviet Union was concerned by the gesture.

The ambassador also called on Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko during the forenoon and discussed the Chinese note with him.

Informed sources said the ambassador had asked for the meeting with the two Soviet executives Thursday in order to discuss the Indian reaction to the work of U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, in seeking a cease-fire in the Pakistan dispute.

Newspaper Company Favored In Tax Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Tax Court ruled in favor of Freedom Newspapers, Inc., Thursday in a $715,509 controversy with the Internal Revenue Service.

The court said the group was justified in accumulating, without distribution to shareholders, nearly $2 million of its earnings in 1959 and 1960 because of its policy of seeking expansion by purchasing newspapers.

Court Suspends Term Of Man On Auto Conversion

A Stark County man accused of borrowing an auto from an East Liverpool woman in May and then converting it to his own use was given a suspended 30-day County Jail term today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Robert William Headley of Canton was given the suspended term after he and Bonnie Armstrong, 1741 Holliday St., advised the court the 1951 model auto has been returned to the owner.

Headley originally was taken before the judge Wednesday. He was granted a continuance when he promised to return the auto by today.

The East End woman alleged that Headley borrowed the car May 20 and then "with intent to defraud converted it to his own use."

The woman told the judge she was satisfied with the return of her auto. The judge then suspended the jail term and ordered Headley to pay the costs.

Petition Planned In Incorporation Bid At Glenmoor

Plans for circulating petitions necessary for incorporating the community as a village under Ohio law were discussed at a meeting of Glenmoor residents Thursday night at the fire station. Fifty-five attended.

Atty. Joseph Baronzzi of Lisbon will serve as legal counsel for the group. He outlined the procedures necessary for incorporating and the advantages offered the community if the action is taken.

The petitions will be circulated before the next meeting Oct. 20 at 8 p. m. at the station. The territory to be included will be discussed.

George Hamilton, president of the Glenmoor Fire Department Association, conducted business. Ronald Wathey is head of the publicity committee.

Salineville Court Fines 3 Drivers

SALINEVILLE — Three motorists were fined and four others forfeited appearance bonds in Mayor Stanley Fitch's court Thursday night.

Glen Wilson of Steubenville and Walter Dinger of Amsterdam were fined $3 and costs each for failure to halt for stop signs and Claude Beadnell of North Benton was fined $5 and costs for reckless operation.

Forfeiting bonds were Clara McIntosh of Kensington, $15 for speeding; Gary Clutter of Irondale, $10 for a stop sign violation; Donald Coen of Canton, $20 for reckless operation, and Paul Mihalik of Stratton, $9 for a stop sign violation.

Chester Mayor Fines Pittsburgh Motorist

Ralph R. Micca, 43, of Pittsburgh was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Harry Ambrams of Chester in a hearing Thursday night.

Micca was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way following an auto accident Wednesday night at Carolina Ave. and 1st St. which resulted in minor injuries to himself and two other Pittsburgh residents who were his passengers.

Chester authorities said the Pittsburgh motorist's auto had passed through a stop signal when it was struck in the side by a vehicle driven by Charles H. Carlisle of East Liverpool R.D. 2.

Johnson Gives Dinner For Various Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson gave a dinner at the White House Thursday night for nearly 100 business, labor and science leaders.

It was one in a series he has held for private discussion of domestic and foreign problems.

sive training cycle. Also, the government will not have to pay for the food, clothing, housing and other benefits drawn by military men.

Officials said there is no target for ultimate development of the program on a wider scale, but they obviously are aiming to install it to the maximum extent possible. At the outset, the civilian-for-military switches will be chiefly in the United States.

Although McNamara announced the new program in the context of the new military buildup, it is known that this idea has been under study for a long time and on a long range basis.

In other matters covered at his first news conference in more than two months, McNamara touched on these subjects:

Viet Nam — Said the strengthened U.S. and South Vietnamese forces "blunted the Viet Cong monsoon drive, forced it to terminate earlier than planned, prevented it from achieving its objectives of dismembering the country and destroying the South Vietnamese military forces."

The defense secretary said he is "cautiously optimistic." He gave no indication of the extent of the military build-up beyond the 125,000 U.S. troops announced so far.

Reserves — Declared "we have not given up the plan" to merge the Army Reserve into the National Guard. A key congressional committee has killed chances for the merger this year.

McNamara says the congressional action "perpetuates unneeded, wasteful, useless units in our Reserve and Guard organizations." He claimed it prevents "equitable sharing geographically of the Reserve and Guard burden."

India-Pakistan war — Disputed contentions that "our aid has escalated the conflict" between India and Pakistan. McNamara noted that U.S. aid to both has been halted and suggested that they are in no position to fight a large scale war for long.

Dominican Republic — Said that "there is no question in my mind" that American lives were in danger in the Dominican Republic last spring "and that was the immediate cause for the introduction of United States troops."

McNamara was commenting on sharp criticism by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the extent of U.S. intervention in the Dominican Republic.

Engineer Complains

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The Belmont County Engineer has a complaint—a county bridge is missing.

Richard J. Boccabella, the engineer, discovered the loss Thursday while on a routine inspection. He said the wooden bridge was in the western part of the county where strip mines have been in operation and that the wooden flooring was tossed to one side and the beams were missing.

Lawmen Hunt Abductor Of Doctor's Wife

ORRINGTON, Maine (AP) — Law enforcement officials and volunteers searched today for Mrs. Lynne P. McGinn, 29, a doctor's wife, abducted at gunpoint from her home by an escaper from a state mental hospital.

Roadblocks were set up at virtually every major highway or intersection in the state after Mrs. McGinn was forced from her home by Roger R. Haller, 31, of Bangor, police said.

They said the man entered the home Thursday afternoon and held Mrs. McGinn and her two children, Stacey, 4, and Pierce, 1, prisoner for several hours.

Her husband, Dr. John F. McGinn, arrived home late in the afternoon and his wife greeted him with the words, "We have company."

McGinn was held also, police said but then talked Haller into letting him leave again on the pretext of visiting a sick patient.

McGinn rushed to notify police — and then when they returned, they found his wife and station wagon were gone.

McGinn said the man identified himself and talked calmly about his activities since an escape from Bangor State Hospital Saturday night.

Haller apparently put Mrs. McGinn in the station wagon and drove off, as soon as the doctor left the house, police said. When police and McGinn arrived, only the children, unharmed remained.

Boy Dragged By Bus Down Rural Road

OREGON CITY, Ore. (AP)—As his mother watched in horro, 7-year-old Clay Moncrief was dragged down a rural highway for one mile by a school bus filled with his classmates.

The bus driver, unaware of the boy's plight, continued on to his next stop before the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Truitt Moncrief, caught up.

Clay was standing beside the front tire, dazed and in shock. His feet and legs were raw and bleeding, his cowboy boots were burned off and his clothes were in shreds.

From his hospital bed, where his condition today was satisfactory, the boy said: "I kept hitting the pavement and it hurt. Once I almost got caught under the wheels."

ONA Suggests Bar-Press Committees

Judge Supports Pretrial News About Crime Cases

CLEVELAND (AP)—A judge has come out in support of pretrial publicity and the Ohio Newspaper Association (ONA) president has suggested forming local bar-press committees to hear complaints on pretrial publicity in criminal cases.

Raymond E. Dix, ONA president, said Thursday at the close of the second state Fair Trial - Free Press Conference that groups should be formed to study pretrial publicity—or lack of it—at the local level.

Most newspapermen disagreed with arguments that pretrial publicity endangered a criminal defendant's right to a fair trial by planting seeds of prejudice in the minds of prospective jurors.

Stark County Common Pleas Judge John Rossetti of Canton, president of the Common Pleas Judges Association of Ohio, said "The defendant is getting a fair trial today if he ever did. Who can say whether publicity has any effect on the jury?"

In reply to Rossetti's statement that jurors are asked if they have drawn any conclusions in a case, Toledo attorney Dan McCullough said, "If there wasn't any pretrial publicity, there wouldn't be any need for the question."

McCullough, a member of the Ohio State Bar Association's fair trial-free press subcommittee, said in his 40 years in law he has learned that there are two kinds of jurors—those who are predjudiced and admit, and those who are prejudiced and won't admit it.

Dr. Murvin H. Perry, head of Kent State University's School of Journalism, said, "The public has a right to know how well its organs of justice are working."

But Samuel Gains, Cleveland attorney, said if the public has a right to know, news media can just as well inform it after the defendant's trial.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — James A. Christensen, 46, program director of WBEN-TV in Buffalo, died Thursday.

31 Evacuated As Fire Hits Rest Home

CLEVELAND (AP) — Authorities said careless smoking may have caused a fire which filled Roni's Nursing Home with thick, black smoke and forced evacuation of 31 elderly patients Thursday night.

Some of the patients were near hysteria. A passerby, hearing screams from the rear of the two-story, brick and frame building, climbed a drain pipe and broke a window to help one patient.

Two patients were treated for smoke inhalation at Lutheran Hospital, and a Red Cross volunteer broke an arm in a fall at the home.

Most of the patients had to be carried or helped from the building. They were taken to another nursing home nearby for the night.

Fifth Battalion Fire Chief George Cain estimated damage at $2,500. Cain said the fire started in the basement in a linen closet.

A Red Cross spokesman said 15 key people in Red Cross disaster work happened to be meeting for an annual disaster briefing when the nursing home fire alarm came in. The 15 rushed out and got some practical disaster experience—on a small scale.

Wall Of Racial Fear Seen Falling In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—"The wall of racial fear is falling in Mississippi," says historian James Silver, who is leaving the University of Mississippi after 29 years as a teacher.

"The crisis has been met and passed in Mississippi," Silver, 58, told a biracial audience of 300 here Thursday night. "But the state," he added, "still needs a long period of convalescence."

Silver wrote the book, "Mississippi-The Closed Society," which condemned the state's century-old segregation policies. Publication of the book renewed efforts by many politicians to have him fired.

"I probably will never return to Mississippi," he told his audience. "I wasn't fired, but a high official last February suggested the University of Mississippi would be better off without me."

Silver will be on a leave of absence for a year to teach at Notre Dame and M.I.T. Then he formally retires from the Ole Miss faculty.

Timken Co. Workers To Vote On Contract

The workers here and in Columbus and Wooster are members of the United Steel Workers Union, whose present contract expires at midnight Saturday.

To Make Them More Realistic

Army To Use Electronic Devices In War Games

COCKEYSVILLE, Md. (AP) — You know those electronic targets that are so popular in penny arcades? The Army soon will be using similar devices to make war games more realistic.

The units, to be used by infantrymen, tanks and artillery, employ a technique called electro-optics, a combination of infrared light and radio frequency.

Developed by Aircraft Armaments, Inc., of Cockeysville, the units are designed to fill the gap between live-fire training and combat.

Each infantryman using a simulator would have a transmitting unit on his helmet and a receiver attached to his rifle.

The rifleman fires as he would in combat. If his shot is accurate, the victim hears a buzzer and sees a flashing light in his pack.

The attacker can check his own unit to determine how many times he has fired and how many hits he has scored.

Earle S. Jones Jr., a development specialist at Aircraft Armaments, says rifle training in war games and maneuvers is "basically a question of 'bang, you're dead'."

"Umpires decide if a man has hit his target," he said. "It's strictly a personal opinion.

"The hit indicator would be more accurate in proving the marksmanship of trainees, provide more interest, and increase realism of combat."

For tanks or artillery pieces, a hit would set off a harmless but loud explosive device.

Student Street Dance Ends With Negroes Jeered

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — A street dance for returning University of Mississippi students ended abruptly Thursday night when nine Negro students were surrounded and jeered.

The "Welcome Rebel" party for new and returning Ole Miss students was held in a roped off section of the town square here.

When the Negro students, four of them girls, began to dance alongside whites they were surrounded.

A small group of white students encircled them and began yelling "black rebel" and obscenities. Rebel is the nickname for the Ole Miss football team.

Ice, soft drinks and coins were tossed from the crowd as the Negro students huddled together.

The Rev. Jimmy Jones, director of the campus Wesley Foundation, pushed his way through milling white students and asked the Negroes to return to the campus a mile away "in order to prevent an ugly incident from erupting."

Oxford police surrounded the Negroes, who then returned to the campus.

Ohio Rights Unit Replies To Its Critics

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Ohio Civil Rights Commission has replied to its critics among civil rights leaders by questioning their motives.

The five-member commission released a statement Thursday night that also accused civil rights leaders—who were not named—of making false accusations against the state agency now investigating alleged job discrimination by the building trades unions in Cincinnati.

"One cannot but wonder as to the purpose of such conduct," the statement said. "Any effort towards discrediting the commission should certainly be seen in the light of most welcome fuel for the fires of those who have resisted and continue to resist civil rights legislation."

There was no immediate reaction from civil rights leaders.

The commission held hearings Aug. 31 and Sept. 2 after local civil rights groups started a series of sit-in demonstrations that led to the arrest of almost 70 persons.

Several local civil rights leaders have described the commission as a do-nothing agency and Herbert Hill, labor secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Wednesday night called for the removal of Chairman Hugh A. Sabato.

Workmen Labor To Clear Tracks In Derailment

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Workmen labored around the clock today to clear the tracks following a derailment Thursday of 48 cars of a Chesapeake & Ohio freight train near Minford, 10 miles north of here.

Railroad officials said the tracks probably would not be cleared before Sunday. In the meantime, rail traffic was rerouted over Norfolk & Western tracks through Portsmouth.

No one was injured in the accident and the cause was not known. Officials said the cars, constituting about the last half of the 84-car train, jumped the tracks on a grade and piled up in a small man-made valley.

Both northbound and southbound tracks were blocked. The engine and 36 cars remained on the tracks.

Most of the derailed cars were demolished. Scioto County sheriff's deputies said the cars contained a variety of merchandise ranging from truck parts to beer.

A cougar is known as a puma, panther and mountain lion.

ONA Suggests Bar-Press Committees

Judge Supports Pretrial News About Crime Cases

CLEVELAND (AP)—A judge has come out in support of pretrial publicity and the Ohio Newspaper Association (ONA) president has suggested forming local bar-press committees to hear complaints on pretrial publicity in criminal cases.

Raymond E. Dix, ONA president, said Thursday at the close of the second state Fair Trial - Free Press Conference that groups should be formed to study pretrial publicity—or lack of it—at the local level.

Most newspapermen disagreed with arguments that pretrial publicity endangered a criminal defendant's right to a fair trial by planting seeds of prejudice in the minds of prospective jurors.

Stark County Common Pleas Judge John Rossetti of Canton, president of the Common Pleas Judges Association of Ohio, said "The defendant is getting a fair trial today if he ever did. Who can say whether publicity has any effect on the jury?"

In reply to Rossetti's statement that jurors are asked if they have drawn any conclusions in a case, Toledo attorney Dan McCullough said, "If there wasn't any pretrial publicity, there wouldn't be any need for the question."

McCullough, a member of the Ohio State Bar Association's fair trial-free press subcommittee, said in his 40 years in law he has learned that there are two kinds of jurors—those who are predjudiced and admit, and those who are prejudiced and won't admit it.

Dr. Murvin H. Perry, head of Kent State University's School of Journalism, said, "The public has a right to know how well its organs of justice are working."

But Samuel Gains, Cleveland attorney, said if the public has a right to know, news media can just as well inform it after the defendant's trial.

TV Director Dies

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — James A. Christensen, 46, program director of WBEN-TV in Buffalo, died Thursday.

31 Evacuated As Fire Hits Rest Home

CLEVELAND (AP) — Authorities said careless smoking may have caused a fire which filled Roni's Nursing Home with thick, black smoke and forced evacuation of 31 elderly patients Thursday night.

Some of the patients were near hysteria. A passerby, hearing screams from the rear of the two-story, brick and frame building, climbed a drain pipe and broke a window to help one patient.

Two patients were treated for smoke inhalation at Lutheran Hospital, and a Red Cross volunteer broke an arm in a fall at the home.

Most of the patients had to be carried or helped from the building. They were taken to another nursing home nearby for the night.

Fifth Battalion Fire Chief George Cain estimated damage at $2,500. Cain said the fire started in the basement in a linen closet.

A Red Cross spokesman said 15 key people in Red Cross disaster work happened to be meeting for an annual disaster briefing when the nursing home fire alarm came in. The 15 rushed out and got some practical disaster experience—on a small scale.

Wall Of Racial Fear Seen Falling In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—"The wall of racial fear is falling in Mississippi," says historian James Silver, who is leaving the University of Mississippi after 29 years as a teacher.

"The crisis has been met and passed in Mississippi," Silver, 58, told a biracial audience of 300 here Thursday night. "But the state," he added, "still needs a long period of convalescence."

Silver wrote the book, "Mississippi-The Closed Society," which condemned the state's century-old segregation policies. Publication of the book renewed efforts by many politicians to have him fired.

"I probably will never return to Mississippi," he told his audience. "I wasn't fired, but a high official last February suggested the University of Mississippi would be better off without me."

Silver will be on a leave of absence for a year to teach at Notre Dame and M.I.T. Then he formally retires from the Ole Miss faculty.

To Make Them More Realistic

Army To Use Electronic Devices In War Games

COCKEYSVILLE, Md. (AP) — You know those electronic targets that are so popular in penny arcades? The Army soon will be using similar devices to make war games more realistic.

The units, to be used by infantrymen, tanks and artillery, employ a technique called electro-optics, a combination of infrared light and radio frequency.

Developed by Aircraft Armaments, Inc., of Cockeysville, the units are designed to fill the gap between live-fire training and combat.

Each infantryman using a simulator would have a transmitting unit on his helmet and a receiver attached to his rifle.

The rifleman fires as he would in combat. If his shot is accurate, the victim hears a buzzer and sees a flashing light in his pack.

The attacker can check his own unit to determine how many times he has fired and how many hits he has scored.

Earle S. Jones Jr., a development specialist at Aircraft Armaments, says rifle training in war games and maneuvers is "basically a question of 'bang, you're dead'."

"Umpires decide if a man has hit his target," he said. "It's strictly a personal opinion.

"The hit indicator would be more accurate in proving the marksmanship of trainees, provide more interest, and increase realism of combat."

For tanks or artillery pieces, a hit would set off a harmless but loud explosive device.

More Papers In New York Set To Close

NEW YORK (AP) — New York faced today a blackout of all but one of its major daily newspapers. The AFL-CIO New York Newspaper Guild struck the New York Times and six other papers announced they would close in support.

Negotiations in the Times' strike, centered on Guild demands for job protection against automation and mergers, broke off early today after going almost nonstop for a day and a half. They were to resume at 11 a.m. The strike was called Thursday.

Mediator Theodore W. Kheel expressed hope during the recess that "with the benefit of some sleep and some reflection we'll be able to move to a final conclusion."

But Thomas J. Murphy, executive secretary of the New York Guild, said: "I hope he's right and I'm wrong. So far we have not resolved the major issues."

Kheel said the postponement of talks meant that the non-struck member papers of the Publishers Association of New York would not publish today.

The afternoon New York Post, not a member of the association, said it would continue normal editions.

The Times announced Thursday night that it could not put out its Friday editions because other unions honored Guild picket lines. That led the Publishers Association to put into effect its announced plan to suspend publication in support of the Times position.

The papers affected, besides the Times, were the morning Daily News and Herald Tribune, and the afternoon Journal-American, World Telegram and Sun, Long Island Star-Journal and Long Island Press. The Press planned to continue its Nassau and Suffolk County edi- New York City.

The suspended papers have 17,000 employes and a total circulation of 4.4 million on weekdays and 6 million on Sunday.

People Moving Out, Moose Moving Into Mountain Town

EASTON, N.H. (AP) — The people are moving out of this small town on the edge of the White Mountains — and the moose are moving in.

Easton's population was never very big and it's getting smaller — down to 74 in 1960, half the number who lived there in 1940.

On the other hand back in 1940 it was generally believed that moose, the largest of the deer family of animals, had long since departed for even more remote places.

But now a family of moose, mister, missus and their 300 pound calf, have not only taken up residence, but they're joining right in with the people.

They've created a traffic problem along Route 116 and at its junction with Route 112 which cuts into the mountains through Kinsman's Notch.

The trouble is that motorists see the moose and stop to satisfy their curiosity.

The members of this moose family are just as curious as people — so they come out to the pavement to look them over. Then nothing moves until the moose are satisfied, or get hungry and go back to grazing along the roadside or in pastures or woods near town.

Dozens of people have made souvenir photographs for themselves, many of them "candid" shots made from 10 feet away.

Conservation officials say the moose, particularly the adults, could be dangerous if frightened or angered. Papa moose weighs about 1,500 pounds and if angered he could wreck an automobile.

Master Chute Rigger Middle-Aged Woman

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The lives of many people depend on the skillful hands of a middle-aged Salt Lake City woman, Mary Eleanor McKay.

Miss McKay operates the only federally certified parachute left in Utah, and is the only master parchute rigger in the state.

She learned parachute packing at Hill Air Force Base during World War II. Since then she has rigged chutes for state flying schools, the Civil Air Patrol, sky divers and, most recently, for drag racers who have installed parachutes on their vehicles to assist braking.

Cincinnati Jury Studies Case Of Demonstrators

CINCINNATI (AP)—A municipal court jury today resumed deliberations in the case of a civil rights demonstrators accused of assault and battery.

The charges were filed against Robert Weaver, 22, Cincinnati, after he allegedly crawled under a police van and kicked policemen who tried to pull him out. The jurors deliberated for an hour Thursday before Judge William N. Lovelace sent them home.

Weaver was one of 16 persons arrested on July 26 when they climbed on construction forms at the site of a school in the East Avondale section to protest alleged racial discrimination in the building trades unions. The demonstration was the first of a series that led to the arrest of almost 70 persons.

Most of the 70 were charged with trespassing and charges against 16 of them were dismissed Thursday at the request of Howard Knauf, manager of Allied Construction Industries, who had signed warrants.

The U.S. Constitution was adopted in 1789.

More Papers In New York Set To Close

NEW YORK (AP) — New York faced today a blackout of all but one of its major daily newspapers. The AFL-CIO New York Newspaper Guild struck the New York Times and six other papers announced they would close in support.

Negotiations in the Times' strike, centered on Guild demands for job protection against automation and mergers, broke off early today after going almost nonstop for a day and a half. They were to resume at 11 a.m. The strike was called Thursday.

Mediator Theodore W. Kheel expressed hope during the recess that "with the benefit of some sleep and some reflection we'll be able to move to a final conclusion."

But Thomas J. Murphy, executive secretary of the New York Guild, said: "I hope he's right and I'm wrong. So far we have not resolved the major issues."

Kheel said the postponement of talks meant that the non-struck member papers of the Publishers Association of New York would not publish today.

The afternoon New York Post, not a member of the association, said it would continue normal editions.

The Times announced Thursday night that it could not put out its Friday editions because other unions honored Guild picket lines. That led the Publishers Association to put into effect its announced plan to suspend publication in support of the Times position.

The papers affected, besides the Times, were the morning Daily News and Herald Tribune, and the afternoon Journal-American, World Telegram and Sun, Long Island Star-Journal and Long Island Press. The Press planned to continue its Nassau and Suffolk County edi- New York City.

The suspended papers have 17,000 employes and a total circulation of 4.4 million on weekdays and 6 million on Sunday.

People Moving Out, Moose Moving Into Mountain Town

EASTON, N.H. (AP) — The people are moving out of this small town on the edge of the White Mountains — and the moose are moving in.

Easton's population was never very big and it's getting smaller — down to 74 in 1960, half the number who lived there in 1940.

On the other hand back in 1940 it was generally believed that moose, the largest of the deer family of animals, had long since departed for even more remote places.

But now a family of moose, mister, missus and their 300 pound calf, have not only taken up residence, but they're joining right in with the people.

They've created a traffic problem along Route 116 and at its junction with Route 112 which cuts into the mountains through Kinsman's Notch.

The trouble is that motorists see the moose and stop to satisfy their curiosity.

The members of this moose family are just as curious as people — so they come out to the pavement to look them over. Then nothing moves until the moose are satisfied, or get hungry and go back to grazing along the roadside or in pastures or woods near town.

Dozens of people have made souvenir photographs for themselves, many of them "candid" shots made from 10 feet away.

Conservation officials say the moose, particularly the adults, could be dangerous if frightened or angered. Papa moose weighs about 1,500 pounds and if angered he could wreck an automobile.

School Head Nominated In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa. — The Scranton administration Thursday ended a 16 - month search for a superintendent of public instruction by nominating Dr. John Ralph Rackley, a vice president of Penn State, for the $30,000-a-year job.

Gov. William W. Scranton said Dr. Rackley, along with others, had been under consideration for almost a year. He indicated Rackley originally had rejected the job, but that the offer was renewed about a week ago.

Rackley came to Pennsylvania in 1956 after having served as acting commissioner of education for the federal government. His first task at Penn State was professor of education and dean of the College of Education.

In 1962 he was elevated to vice president.

From 1957 through 1958 he served under former Democratic Gov. George M. Leader as chairman of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Education. From 1961 to 1963 he was a member of the Committee of 100 for better deucation.

Rackley is a native Oklahoman who was graduated from the University of Oklahoma with degrees in history. He received his doctorate in history at Peabody College, in Nashville, Tenn.

His career as an educator started in the Oklahoma City High School system. In 1939 he went to Teachers College of Connecticut and from 1946 to 1949 served as dean of the College of Education at Oklahoma University.

He served with the Signal Corps during World War II, and now holds a commission of lieutenant - colonel in the Reserve.

Master Chute Rigger Middle-Aged Woman

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The lives of many people depend on the skillful hands of a middle-aged Salt Lake City woman, Mary Eleanor McKay.

Miss McKay operates the only federally certified parachute left in Utah, and is the only master parchute rigger in the state.

She learned parachute packing at Hill Air Force Base during World War II. Since then she has rigged chutes for state flying schools, the Civil Air Patrol, sky divers and, most recently, for drag racers who have installed parachutes on their vehicles to assist braking.

Cincinnati Jury Studies Case Of Demonstrators

CINCINNATI (AP)—A municipal court jury today resumed deliberations in the case of a civil rights demonstrators accused of assault and battery.

The charges were filed against Robert Weaver, 22, Cincinnati, after he allegedly crawled under a police van and kicked policemen who tried to pull him out. The jurors deliberated for an hour Thursday before Judge William N. Lovelace sent them home.

Weaver was one of 16 persons arrested on July 26 when they climbed on construction forms at the site of a school in the East Avondale section to protest alleged racial discrimination in the building trades unions. The demonstration was the first of a series that led to the arrest of almost 70 persons.

Most of the 70 were charged with trespassing and charges against 16 of them were dismissed Thursday at the request of Howard Knauf, manager of Allied Construction Industries, who had signed warrants.

The U.S. Constitution was adopted in 1789.

Clark Froelich Jr. served as best man. Ushers were Donald Hill, the bride's brother, Ralph Widger, Alvin Vogel and Vaughn Strobel.

5th International Camp Ends

Freedom House Deserted As 32 Children Go Home

FREEDOM, N.H. (AP) — Inez Eagleshield has returned to her reservation home on the Dakota plains. Eva Wolgers is back in Stockholm, Sweden. Molly Luethi is roaming the Alpine fields around Goldern, Switzerland. Denise Bruton is back in Washington.

The rambling old farmhouse where they and 28 other children spent the summer is deserted.

When next summer arrives, the house again will ring with the multilingual cries of children at play. And Freedom's International Camp will begin its sixth year of striving for "peace through understanding."

"We try to get children of as many different nationalities as we can," said Jurg Papritz, a Swiss teacher who heads the camp. "This year, for example, we had 16."

The nonprofit camp is privately financed through tuitions, donations and fund raising project, but does not cater solely to a paying clientele.

Many of the youngsters come from the International Rescue Center in New York. Others are sent by local relief organizations.

While there, the children swim, study, play games much like children at any summer camp.

In 1949, a Wellesley college girl named Natalie Peterson, spending a year studying at Zurich University in Switzerland, was dismayed by the suspicion and hatred most of Europe felt toward the German people after World War II.

Three years later, with money provided by her family and friends, she established in Holland the first international camp.

She later married a Swiss named Armin Leuthi and brought her idea of international camps to the United States in 1959.

In 1960 the Luethis purchased an old farm homestead and converted it into a residence for up to 40 children and counselors during summer months.

Alabama Public Safety Director Quits Position

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Col. Albert Lingo, director of Alabama's Public Safety Department, has resigned, apparently to seek an elective office although he claims to have no firm plans.

Lingo's resignation as head of the state's law enforcement division becomes effective Oct. 1. He said Thursday he has "had requests from throughout the state to run for governor and for sheriff of Jefferson County."

He is expected to seek the sheriff's position in Alabama's most populous county which includes the city of Birmingham.

Gov. George Wallace, in announcing the resignation Thursday, said that Lingo has served the state "ably and well" as head of the Public Safety Department for the past three years.

In that position, the heavy-set, soft-spoken Lingo headed Alabama's state troopers. He became a familiar sight at scenes of racial demonstrations and unrest around the state earlier this year.

Site For Kennedy Library Offered

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Twelve acres of land near Harvard Square and along a bend in the Charles River may be the site of the John F. Kennedy Library and Political Institute.

A special legislative commission has recommended a 12-acre tract used as a yard by the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority as the site.

The commission recommended Thursday that the authority be authorized to sell the yard to the library and that the state pay a portion of the cost.

Past estimates have placed the worth of the area at about $6 million.

Directors of the John F. Kennedy Library Fund hope to reach a goal of $20 million by Nov. 22, the second anniversary of the president's assassination.

Tracy has been plagued with illness for the past two years.

Negro Suggests Reducing Size Of School Board

CLEVELAND (AP)—Chester K. Gillespie, Negro member of the Ohio Board of Education, says the size of the board should be reduced and the members should be appointed instead of elected.

Gillespie, who complained Wednesday that the board discriminated in hiring at its central office in Columbus, said Thursday that "if the board were reduced to say 11 or 13 members, you could pinpoint responsibility better."

The board consists of 23 members elected from 23 Ohio congressional districts.

Gillespie sent a telegram about the discrimination charges to President Johnson Wednesday, but a spokesman in Washington said the telegram has not been found in the heavy volume of mail.

The nonprofit camp is privately financed through tuitions, donations and fund raising project, but does not cater solely to a paying clientele.

Many of the youngsters come from the International Rescue Center in New York. Others are sent by local relief organizations.

While there, the children swim, study, play games much like children at any summer camp.

In 1949, a Wellesley college girl named Natalie Peterson, spending a year studying at Zurich University in Switzerland, was dismayed by the suspicion and hatred most of Europe felt toward the German people after World War II.

Three years later, with money provided by her family and friends, she established in Holland the first international camp.

She later married a Swiss named Armin Leuthi and brought her idea of international camps to the United States in 1959.

In 1960 the Luethis purchased an old farm homestead and converted it into a residence for up to 40 children and counselors during summer months.

Negro Suggests Reducing Size Of School Board

CLEVELAND (AP)—Chester K. Gillespie, Negro member of the Ohio Board of Education, says the size of the board should be reduced and the members should be appointed instead of elected.

Gillespie, who complained Wednesday that the board discriminated in hiring at its central office in Columbus, said Thursday that "if the board were reduced to say 11 or 13 members, you could pinpoint responsibility better."

The board consists of 23 members elected from 23 Ohio congressional districts.

Gillespie sent a telegram about the discrimination charges to President Johnson Wednesday, but a spokesman in Washington said the telegram has not been found in the heavy volume of mail.

Alabama Public Safety Director Quits Position

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Col. Albert Lingo, director of Alabama's Public Safety Department, has resigned, apparently to seek an elective office although he claims to have no firm plans.

Lingo's resignation as head of the state's law enforcement division becomes effective Oct. 1. He said Thursday he has "had requests from throughout the state to run for governor and for sheriff of Jefferson County."

He is expected to seek the sheriff's position in Alabama's most populous county which includes the city of Birmingham.

Gov. George Wallace, in announcing the resignation Thursday, said that Lingo has served the state "ably and well" as head of the Public Safety Department for the past three years.

In that position, the heavy-set, soft-spoken Lingo headed Alabama's state troopers. He became a familiar sight at scenes of racial demonstrations and unrest around the state earlier this year.

Site For Kennedy Library Offered

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Twelve acres of land near Harvard Square and along a bend in the Charles River may be the site of the John F. Kennedy Library and Political Institute.

A special legislative commission has recommended a 12-acre tract used as a yard by the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority as the site.

The commission recommended Thursday that the authority be authorized to sell the yard to the library and that the state pay a portion of the cost.

Past estimates have placed the worth of the area at about $6 million.

Directors of the John F. Kennedy Library Fund hope to reach a goal of $20 million by Nov. 22, the second anniversary of the president's assassination.

Wow! Mama's A Knockout

Mother Of Miss America Attends College In Kansas

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — In the American history classroom at the University of Missouri it was easy to spot the mother of Miss America. Not because she was older than the others, but — wow!

Mama is a knockout.

At 43, the mother of two children, Irene Bryant has a figure that could rival that of her daughter— Miss America of 1966. And those statistics read 36-23-36.

"When I was a freshman at Kansas University in 1939 my sorority asked me to compete in a contest but I didn't win," says Mrs. Bryant. "That was as close as I ever got to a beauty crown. And I've even forgotten what contest it was."

She didn't finish college and last summer, because of a divorce and grown children, she enrolled at the University of Missouri's Kansas City campus.

Mrs. Bryant is finishing work for a bachelor's degree in education. She is a senior and will continue after graduation next summer for a master's in speech pathology.

Miss America wants to be a pediatrician. Mama America wants to do speech therapy with children.

How goes it as a student?

"Let me put it this way," she says. "I'm much better than I was 26 years ago. In summer school I had an A in four hours and a B in another four. It's not quite as good as Debbie's. She had only one B-plus and the rest A's in her two years at Christian College.

"She has a keen mind. I wouldn't begin to take the courses she does."

Bill Passed To Beautify Roads In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The highway beautification bill strongly backed by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson has cleared the Senate by an overwhelming 63-14 vote.

While the Senate remained in session Thursday night to pass the legislation, the House Public Roads subcommittee met at the same time and cleared a similar version.

The full House Public Works Committee scheduled a session on it today.

The bill passed by the Senate was a far cry from the one originally submitted by President Johnson.

But he told Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., chief sponsor of the legislation in the Senate, that the revised version was fully acceptable to him.

About a month ago congressional leaders advised the President that many changes were essential if the measure were to be rescued this year.

Mrs. Johnson said last week she would consider the bill "a step forward. . .even though we do not get all of the features we want."

The bill sent to the House by the Senate would ban billboards on much of the interstate and primary highway systems, require removal or screening of junkyards on the same routes, and provide $120 million a year in grants to the states for scenic enhancement and landscaping along all federal-aid roads.

Perhaps its most far-reaching provision is the requirement that signs be removed from the 225,000-mile primary system. This includes the nation's major routes, many of them four decades old.

Repairs To Close Ft. Steuben Span

STEUBENVILLE — The Ft. Steuben Bridge, carrying U. S. Route 22 across the Ohio River between Steubenville and Weirton, will be closed for a 48-hour period beginning at 8 a. m. next Wednesday.

Officials of the Ohio Highway Department announced that the temporary closing is necessitated by repairs to the pavement on the bridge. The contractor will begin removal of the existing pavement Wednesday morning and will start placing new pavement on Thursday morning.

Plans call for reopening the span at 8 a. m. Friday. The schedule, it was pointed out, depends upon suitable weather during which the contractor can properly lay pavement.

A detour carrying through - traffic on U. S. 22 along the High St. thoroughfare and 3rd St. in Steubenville to the Market St. Bridge and then over West Virginia Route 2 has been set up through the cooperative efforts of the city of Steubenville, the Ohio Highway Department and the West Virginia State Road Commission. Signs will be placed to guide through-traffic.

Deadline Reaffirmed On Issue At Wellsville

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the County Election Board, reiterated today that the deadline apparently falls Monday for the Wellsville School District to ask a vote at the Nov. 2 general election on a bond issue and a tax levy to finance a building program.

The district originally had sought a special election on the issue for next Tuesday, but cancelled its request to permit revision of the amount of money that will be sought under the bond issue.

O'Hanlon emphasized the board's own legal advisor should be consulted about the deadline for filing the issue. However, he said that Monday appears to be the last day on which it can be filed under Section 3318.06 of the Ohio Revised Code. The deadline already has passed for submitting the issue under the Uniform Tax Act, he added.

Bill Passed To Beautify Roads In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The highway beautification bill strongly backed by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson has cleared the Senate by an overwhelming 63-14 vote.

While the Senate remained in session Thursday night to pass the legislation, the House Public Roads subcommittee met at the same time and cleared a similar version.

The full House Public Works Committee scheduled a session on it today.

The bill passed by the Senate was a far cry from the one originally submitted by President Johnson.

But he told Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., chief sponsor of the legislation in the Senate, that the revised version was fully acceptable to him.

About a month ago congressional leaders advised the President that many changes were essential if the measure were to be rescued this year.

Mrs. Johnson said last week she would consider the bill "a step forward. . .even though we do not get all of the features we want."

The bill sent to the House by the Senate would ban billboards on much of the interstate and primary highway systems, require removal or screening of junkyards on the same routes, and provide $120 million a year in grants to the states for scenic enhancement and landscaping along all federal-aid roads.

Perhaps its most far-reaching provision is the requirement that signs be removed from the 225,000-mile primary system. This includes the nation's major routes, many of them four decades old.

Repairs To Close Ft. Steuben Span

STEUBENVILLE — The Ft. Steuben Bridge, carrying U. S. Route 22 across the Ohio River between Steubenville and Weirton, will be closed for a 48-hour period beginning at 8 a. m. next Wednesday.

Officials of the Ohio Highway Department announced that the temporary closing is necessitated by repairs to the pavement on the bridge. The contractor will begin removal of the existing pavement Wednesday morning and will start placing new pavement on Thursday morning.

Plans call for reopening the span at 8 a. m. Friday. The schedule, it was pointed out, depends upon suitable weather during which the contractor can properly lay pavement.

A detour carrying through - traffic on U. S. 22 along the High St. thoroughfare and 3rd St. in Steubenville to the Market St. Bridge and then over West Virginia Route 2 has been set up through the cooperative efforts of the city of Steubenville, the Ohio Highway Department and the West Virginia State Road Commission. Signs will be placed to guide through-traffic.

Deadline Reaffirmed On Issue At Wellsville

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the County Election Board, reiterated today that the deadline apparently falls Monday for the Wellsville School District to ask a vote at the Nov. 2 general election on a bond issue and a tax levy to finance a building program.

The district originally had sought a special election on the issue for next Tuesday, but cancelled its request to permit revision of the amount of money that will be sought under the bond issue.

O'Hanlon emphasized the board's own legal advisor should be consulted about the deadline for filing the issue. However, he said that Monday appears to be the last day on which it can be filed under Section 3318.06 of the Ohio Revised Code. The deadline already has passed for submitting the issue under the Uniform Tax Act, he added.

It's Across Railroad Bridge Or Boat Across River

By KYLE VANCE
Louisville Courier-Journal

LOVELY, Ky. (AP) — For 32 Kentucky children, the path to school in West Virginia is across a narrow railroad bridge or by flatboat across the Tug Fork of the Big Sandy River.

"Some of them have been caught on that bridge by trains," said Shayde Chapman, principal of the Nolan (W.Va.) elementary school which the children attend.

"They had to lie down and let the train pass over them, or get out to the edge of a pier, or, if they were lucky, run off the bridge ahead of the train," he said in an interview.

"Of course, it is just as dangerous crossing the river in boats when it is dark or when the water is up."

This condition has existed for years because there is no road large enough to permit Martin County, Ky., school buses to serve Lovely, a mountain hamlet on the West Virginia-Kentucky border.

But the problem may soon be solved — not by the state, or the county or the federal Appalachia program. Sympathetic citizens have raised funds from individuals and businesses and are giving their time to build an all-weather road.

They started with borrowed bulldozers and graders. During the last three weeks, the county has provided machinery under an agreement that the citizens pay the operator's salaries plus fuel costs.

"We took the Kentucky children because somebody had to care for them," Chapman said. "It is impossible for them to go to school in Kentucky, especially during wet or cold weather.

"Everything is just as legal as it can be made. Their parents either buy a small piece of property over here (West Virginia) and pay taxes on it, or they somehow qualify to vote in West Virginia.

"We provide books for the children and feed them. They are being taken care of."

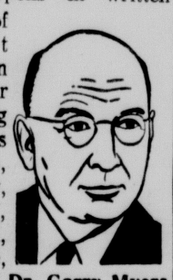
Short Words Trouble Many Children

Parents often write me of the child in the lower grades, even in high school, who frequently misspells in written work many of the short words he often has heard or used. Among these words are: was, busy, any, were, knee, saucer, onion, comb, once, sugar, of, half, dirt, heart, ocean, girl, says, word, his, lose, cure, sweats, come, said, women, ready, knife ear, key, chew, basin, sugar.



Dr. Garry Myers

Often these words are spelled as the child thinks they sound. Many of you parents and teachers reading this have seen these and similar short words misspelled.

A teacher in the middle or higher grades might enlist the strong interest of a whole class if she were to have her pupils name all the short words they often have misspelled as she writes these words correctly on the board. Any parent whose child often has misspelled many of these short words might prevail on him to help make a list of those words which have troubled him.

AFTER THESE lists have been made at school or home the next step is for each child to set out at once with a good plan to master those short words which he often has spelled wrong, attacking two or three an evening.

All too many teachers and parents will expect the child to learn all at once, or in a short while, the correct spelling of all the lists made. If they do, they and the children will be discouraged with the results.

Having your child attack two or three of these words an evening, be sure each word is written, printed, or typed plainly, preferably one word on a card or small piece of paper. Then have him pronounced the word as he looks at it carefully and say aloud its letters in correct order.

He will want to go right away to the next word. Don't let him do that but keep practicing on the spelling of this one word, looking carefully at it, pronouncing it and spelling it while looking at it, doing all this over and over again four, five or six times before going to the next word.

AIM TO keep him from looking away from the word and trying himself out too soon. Make accuracy your slogan. Inspire him to try never to spell one word wrong.

Next evening, when he attacks a few more of these words, have him spell the words of the list he had learned on previous evenings. Encourage him when in doubt not to try to spell one of these words but to go back and look at the word as it is correctly spelled.

The foregoing should be a good pattern for his learning to spell any word, whether he had once spelled it wrong or not.

Indeed, he would rarely spell any word wrong if he followed such a way of learning to spell. As you have observed, we have been talking about the many small words which are not spelled phonetically. Their spellings have to be learned by frequent correct repetition.

BUT THIS does not mean that phonetics won't be useful to him in spelling and reading most words. His learning the basic sounds of letters in words will be very helpful to him.

All we have said is that a number of short words the child often uses, hears or sees in print, are not spelled as they sound and have to be learned by heart mechanically.

My bulletins, "Home Helps for Poor Spellers," "Helping Your Child at Home in Early Steps of Reading," and "Home Fun with Phonics," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Traffic Accident Gives Boy New Chance For Life

CINCINNATI (AP)—The traffic accident that killed Benny J. Smith, 28, of Pisgah has given 6-year-old Brian Todd Smith a new chance for life.

Brian, son of Mrs. Evelyn Smith of Mansfield, is in the Shriners' Burns Institute at General Hospital with burns over 70 per cent of his body and a spokesman says Benny Smith's widow agreed to let doctors take a skin graft from her husband's body.

Benny Smith, not related to the boy, was killed Thursday when the car he was driving jumped over a divider and collided with another car on the U.S. 50 bypass north of Cincinnati. The driver of the other car was not hurt seriously.

AFTER THESE lists have been made at school or home the next step is for each child to set out at once with a good plan to master those short words which he often has spelled wrong, attacking two or three an evening.

All too many teachers and parents will expect the child to learn all at once, or in a short while, the correct spelling of all the lists made. If they do, they and the children will be discouraged with the results.

Having your child attack two or three of these words an evening, be sure each word is written, printed, or typed plainly, preferably one word on a card or small piece of paper. Then have him pronounced the word as he looks at it carefully and say aloud its letters in correct order.

He will want to go right away to the next word. Don't let him do that but keep practicing on the spelling of this one word, looking carefully at it, pronouncing it and spelling it while looking at it, doing all this over and over again four, five or six times before going to the next word.

AIM TO keep him from looking away from the word and trying himself out too soon. Make accuracy your slogan. Inspire him to try never to spell one word wrong.

Next evening, when he attacks a few more of these words, have him spell the words of the list he had learned on previous evenings. Encourage him when in doubt not to try to spell one of these words but to go back and look at the word as it is correctly spelled.

The foregoing should be a good pattern for his learning to spell any word, whether he had once spelled it wrong or not.

Indeed, he would rarely spell any word wrong if he followed such a way of learning to spell. As you have observed, we have been talking about the many small words which are not spelled phonetically. Their spellings have to be learned by frequent correct repetition.

BUT THIS does not mean that phonetics won't be useful to him in spelling and reading most words. His learning the basic sounds of letters in words will be very helpful to him.

All we have said is that a number of short words the child often uses, hears or sees in print, are not spelled as they sound and have to be learned by heart mechanically.

My bulletins, "Home Helps for Poor Spellers," "Helping Your Child at Home in Early Steps of Reading," and "Home Fun with Phonics," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Traffic Accident Gives Boy New Chance For Life

CINCINNATI (AP)—The traffic accident that killed Benny J. Smith, 28, of Pisgah has given 6-year-old Brian Todd Smith a new chance for life.

Brian, son of Mrs. Evelyn Smith of Mansfield, is in the Shriners' Burns Institute at General Hospital with burns over 70 per cent of his body and a spokesman says Benny Smith's widow agreed to let doctors take a skin graft from her husband's body.

Benny Smith, not related to the boy, was killed Thursday when the car he was driving jumped over a divider and collided with another car on the U.S. 50 bypass north of Cincinnati. The driver of the other car was not hurt seriously.

Smith was dead on arrival at General Hospital and a spokesman said a doctor then called his widow and explained that the skin graft might save the boy's life. Mrs. Leona Smith consented to let the graft be taken.

The spokesman described her action as "heroic."

Lt. James Goldsmith of Mansfield police said Brian Todd was burned about a month go when his mother threw some gasoline into a fireplace to make the fire start again. The boy was standing by and his clothing burst into flames.

Luke Barnett, 88, Taken By Death

PITTSBURGH — Luke Barnett, 88, whose talent for needling the great and the near-great earned him the title of "King of the Ribbers," died at 1:45 p.m. Thursday in the Vincentian Home for the Chronically Ill in McCandless Township.

Until he fell and broke his hip six years ago, he had made a career for 60 years of ruffling the feathers of unsuspecting celebrities.

Adopting various poses and identities, he would "get under the skin" of a victim by a constant barrage of blunt, tactless, insulting remarks, sometimes in direct conversation and sometimes in loudly whispered asides.

Frequently, the celebrity would "blow his top" and try to take a punch at him.

Among his victims were "Gentleman Jim" Corbett, one-time heavyweight champion, and Lillian Russell, queen of the Gay Nineties.

White House Must Know First

Johnson's Aides Tighten Reins On News Releases

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's aides have passed the word to the administration's corps of public relations men: If there's something to be announced, let the White House know about it first.

The result, a check of Cabinet agencies showed today, is a steady flow of proposed or prepared news releases for appraisal at the White House.

"We want first refusal on anything that should appropriately come from here," one White House assistant said.

But at the same time, he said the White House probably will exercise more selectivity in choosing what will be returned to the executive gaencies for release there.

The stream of agency news releases to and through the White House apparently picked up after an August conference which brought agency public affairs officers to the office of Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary.

Johnson stopped in for what a White House assistant described as a pep talk.

At another point, people who were on hand reported, he lectured the public affairs men, demanding a better written flow of announcements about the administration.

He was quoted as saying if that did not come about, he would enlist some high school seniors from Johnson City, Tex., and count on them to do the job.

Officials in the Cabinet agencies and at the White House would not talk for attribution about the stepped-up flow of announcements.

A White House spokesman said the same kind of public relations operation has been conducted in past administrations.

But officials elsewhere in the administration said the effort has been stepped up under Johnson.

At the Pentagon, information office men joke about what some of them have come to call the Pedernales press service.

Pedernales is the name of the river that flows through Johnson's LB Ranch in Texas. And when he is there, the stream of White House announcements reaches a peak.

It is a practice that has been followed by presidential press officers for years. Pierre Salinger did it for John F. Kennedy at Hyannis Port, Mass., James C. Hagerty did the same for Dwight D. Eisenhower at Augusta, Ga.

The stream of press releases gives the impression of business as usual, or more than usual, during a presidential weekend off.

One Cabinet agency press officer pointed to that background in discussing the topic. But he added that his agency is sending more information for release at the White House than ever before.

He said a White House announcement often attracts more attention than would one issued by the agency involved. A White House official said the same thing.

But another press officer disagreed. He said the increased flow of releases from the White House has kept information out of the hands of specialists covering his agency.

Some major news-producing agencies, among them the Departments of Agriculture, Interior, Commerce and Health, Education and Welfare, send regular weekly summaries of potential news releases to the White House press office.

The reports are screened there, and the announcements that will come from Moyers, in the name of the White House or of Johnson himself, are chosen. Others are returned for release by the departments.

Other agencies report they keep the White House informed of their newsmaking potential on a less formal basis.

One agency's information man said Johnson has relayed word that he does not want to wake up in the morning and read in a newspaper an announcement or report he had not heard first at the White House.

The harvest from this effort reached a peak during Johnson's Labor Day weekend in Texas. The score: 42 news releases in four days.

One batch was so heavy that White House aides had to wheel it into the press room on a baggage cart.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm the 21-year-old mother of a 2-year-old son. About 18 months ago my young sister moved in with us. I love having Jill here. She is a great help to me, but she is causing a problem I can't handle. I'm afraid she is taking my child's love from me.

At first I was happy to let Jill take Roy for walks, and feed and dress him, but now whenever I try to do anything for him he runs to his aunt and says, "No, let Auntie Jill do."

I mentioned this to my sister in a joking way and she laughed it off as "silly." But it really does bother me, Ann. Please tell me if you feel I should have a serious talk with her, or should I just skip it and hope my child grows to love me more? — UNHAPPY MOTHER.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm the 21-year-old mother of a 2-year-old son. About 18 months ago my young sister moved in with us. I love having Jill here. She is a great help to me, but she is causing a problem I can't handle. I'm afraid she is taking my child's love from me.

At first I was happy to let Jill take Roy for walks, and feed and dress him, but now whenever I try to do anything for him he runs to his aunt and says, "No, let Auntie Jill do."

I mentioned this to my sister in a joking way and she laughed it off as "silly." But it really does bother me, Ann. Please tell me if you feel I should have a serious talk with her, or should I just skip it and hope my child grows to love me more? — UNHAPPY MOTHER.

Dear Unhappy: A child does not love his mother just because she gave him life. If you want Roy to love you as a mother you'd better start doing the things for him that a mother should do.

Because it was easier to turn these chores over to your sister you ducked your responsibility and now Roy looks to Auntie Jill for his needs.

Get off your back porch and you won't have to worry about Auntie Jill depriving you of the boy's love.

The Sports Bench

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Midland Given Slight Nod . . .

For the first gaze at the crystal ball, the score came out eight right and four wrong.

We missed on the Wellsville-Oak Glen battle when the Tigers turned in a near-perfect performance to knock over their rivals from West Virginia.

That game was the only mistake Friday, but three wrong guesses appeared Saturday. The misses came on South Side's victory over Center Township, United's win over Leetonia and Canfield's triumph over East Palestine.

We are put directly on the spot tonight with the Midland-East Liverpool encounter, but here's how it looks.

Midland has more experience at every position and the Potters are doubtful of their starting quarterback, plus the fact that only six lettermen are available.

We are picking Midland to win by a touchdown in tonight's top contest in the district.

In other matches tonight, we like Wellsville to roll past Lisbon for victory No. 2 and Wellsburg over Oak Glen.

Southern Local, which won its first game, meets Springfield Local of Jefferson County tonight. We will have to go with the Springfield eleven by two touchdowns.

United should roll over Sebring, while Stanton Local looks like a winner over Mt. Pleasant.

We are picking Youngstown North to defeat Columbiana and East Palestine to open its home season with a victory over West Branch.

The one other contest tonight pits Salem against Ravenna. We will take the improved Quakers over the visitors.

Two games are on tap Saturday. From here it looks like Beaver Local over Leetonia, as the much-improved Beavers play their first game at home.

The other game finds Grove City visiting Crestview. Will take Crestview to win this one.

★ ★ ★

Krivoshia May Miss Opener . . .

MIKE KRIVOSHIA, the former fullback at Midland who rambled through all opposition during his high school days, may be the No. 1 fullback for Indiana University before the season is over.

Mike was tabbed by head coach Johnny Pont as the first string fullback last week, but the Midland gridder suffered a pulled tendon in his ankle during practice Friday and may be used only part time in Indiana's opener with Kansas State Saturday at Bloomington.

Tom Miller, Indiana's sports information director, says that Pont feels that Krivoshia will make a fine college fullback.

The Indiana coach had been counting on Lee Robinson of Gary, Ind. for the fullback spot, but surgery on his knee has sidelined him for the season. Robinson, who weighed in at 213, the same weight as Krivoshia, was timed in the 100-yard dash at 9.9.

Krivoshia displayed his powerful running well and more than pleased the Indiana coaching staff in pre-season practice.

After his performance in high school, college offers flowed to the Krivoshia household. Brother Dan probably influenced Mike's decision.

Dan played at Indiana in the late 50's, performing at end.

Leopards Shoot For 7th Straight

A crowd of over 6,000 is expected to jam Patterson Field tonight when the East Liverpool Potters meet a strong Midland eleven. Kickoff is at 7:45.

Wellsville-Lisbon Games Starts At 7:45

The Wellsville - Lisbon game tonight at Lisbon will begin at 7:45 p. m. Don Lowe, Wellsville ticket manager, reminded fans.

Midland, a 13-7 loser to the Potters a year ago, will be out to avenge that setback and at the same time will be after its seventh straight victory.

COACH Joe Cochran's team won its last five games of the 1964 season and captured last week's opener with Mohawk.

Midland also prides itself on defense and last season chalked up five shutouts while posting one already this season.

While Cochran was pretty well set on a starting lineup coach Bob McNea will probably have to open without Chuck Winters at the quarterback spot.

WINTERS has not been able to practice much this week after suffering heat exhaustion and was hospitalized last Friday.

McNea will probably start the same backfield used against Beaver Local in the opener with Mike Goodballet moving into the quarterback spot while Jim Gooding fills in at the left half, Nick Marchbanks at the other half and Larry Long at fullback.

Cochran's offensive team will show Rich Mahurt (170) and Larry Walker (175) at ends, Glenn Humbert (195) and Dan Clouse (180) at tackles, Anthony Rosatone (200) and Alfred Monaco (190) at guards and Martin Ciancone (190) at center.

—:—

COCHRAN who was worried about the quarterback spot was pleased with the work of Bernie Mraovic 160-pound senior in the performance he gave against Mohawk.

Mraovic pitched for one touchdown and completed two other aerials for the Leopards.

Listed with Mraovic is an all-veteran backfield of Steve Alston and Jim Smith at halfbacks and Tom Wuchina at fullback. Smith scored twice in last week's opener.

Most of Midland's offensive starters go both ways but Cochran's makes a few changes sending Dan Gornak and Anthony Ciccone to defensive tackles while Dave Vanlier and Pierre Robinson draw safety spots.

Morehead Flips No-Hitter

Tribe Victim Of 1st In AL In 3 Seasons

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Herbert Hoover High School in San Diego, Calif., produces some pretty fair baseball players. It sent Ted Williams to the Boston Red Sox and now Dave Morehead.

The 22-year-old Morehead fired the first American League no-hitter in three years Thursday as he allowed only one man to reach base in the Red Sox' 2-0 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Morehead, who earned a job with the Red Sox in 1963 though only two years out of high shool, barely failed to match Sandy Koufax' perfect game for the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League last week.

The Boston right-hander walked Rocky Colavito on a 3-and-2 pitch at the start of the second inning. Then he struck out Fred Whitfield, Chuck Hinton and Pedro Gonzalez.

"I can't believe it," Morehead said excitedly, his hand shaking. "Look, I threw only 105 pitches. That's my all-time low. And I don't think I have to say it's my all-time thrill."

There was little doubt that Morehead was nervous as he took the mound for the ninth inning. And Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts, an old pro as player and manager, made sure the kid earned his no-hitter.

Morehead, who struck out eight, was called up to face three straight pinch hitters. Larry Brown lined to shortstop Eddie Bressoud and Lou Clinton, a former Boston outfielder, hit a liner directly to center fielder Jim Gosger.

Tebbetts sent up speedy Vic Davilillo. The Red Sox huddled at the mound and decided to try and get Davilillo to hit to the right side, while being alert for a bunt.

Morehead fired two blazing strikes past the Cleveland pinch hitter and Tebbetts hurried from the dugout for a conference with his batter. Unruffled, Morehead threw a fast curve which Davilillo hit back to the mound. Morehead fumbled the ball, then threw into the dirt, but first baseman Lee Thomas scooped it up for the final out.

Morehead, who received an estimated $50,000 bonus after graduation from Herbert Hoover High, had won only nine of 25 previous decisions, while posting an unimposing 4.27 earned run average. He said he used a recently acquired slider with his fast ball and curve.

Morehead's no-hitter, the 10th for a Boston Red Sox pitcher, earned him a new contract with a $1,000 raise. Owner Tom Yawkey congratulated his young hurler and offered the contract, explaining baseball rules ban a bonus.

The no-hitter stole the show from the American League race. The Minnesota Twins were rained out of a scheduled game with Kansas City and their magic number to clinch the pennant remained at six. No other AL games were scheduled.

South Side Drops Its First At Avalon

AVALON — South Side suffered its first setback of the season here Thursday night when Avalon blended an air and ground attack for a 26-0 victory.

The setback eliminates South Side from the WPIAL Class B race. The Rams had won their opener against Center Township.

Avalon tallied in the first quarter when Bill Downes went eight yards to register the first TD. The touchdown came after officials ruled a fumble when a South Side back was tackled while catching a punt.

Quarterback Phil Ross followed with two straight touchdown passes to Tom Hargest one good for 30 yards and the other 25.

Jack Burke's 45 yard touchdown run on a pass interception capped the scoring for Avalon in the third quarter. It was Avalon's second victory.

Red Sox Fire Higgins As General Manager

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox, winner of only one pennant in Tom Yawkey's 32-year ownership, shopped around for a player personnel director today after firing Mike (Pinky) Higgins as executive vice president and general manager.

Yawkey's sudden break with a long-time friend, who helped the Red Sox to the American League flag as a player in 1946, and the promotion of business chief Dick O'Connell to over-all command of the Boston organization was announced Thursday.

In a brief statement the Red Sox announced that the 56-year-old Higgins "will no longer remain with the Red Sox organization."

Higgins' firing touched off speculation on who would get the job to try and rebuild the Red Sox. Under the front office guidance of Higgins, the club finished seventh in 1963, eighth in 1964 and now is battling Kansas City to remain in ninth.

"Mike Higgins and I have been friends for many years and because of his long association with the Red Sox organization I sincerely regret that this move had to be made," Yawkey said. "But it was mutually agreed it was best for all concerned."

Higgins, told of the action a few hours earlier, still appeared shaken when reached late in the evening. He was contacted while packing his bags to return to his home in Dallas, Tex.

"I have nothing to say," the soft-spoken Texan said. "I wish them well...but they were too impatient."

O'Connell, a member of the Red Sox organization since 1946 after discharge as a Naval intelligence officer, said that a baseball man from outside the Boston clan will be hired to handle player personnel.

Musuraca's 2 TD's Spark Westgate Win

The defense minded Westgate team blanked Weirton Madonna, 13-0 as Jim Musuraca raced for both touchdowns Thursday at Weirton Madonna eight where Musuraca found running room for the first TD. The husky back then ran for the one point conversion.

Early in the fourth period, Musuraca went 11 yards to paydirt.

Coach Joe Chontos cited the overall effort of the defensive team.

Swift Senate Action Seen In Athletic Feud

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leader Mike Mansfield predicts swift Senate action on legislation to provide binding, government-backed arbitration of the feud that is disrupting U.S. amateur track and field affairs.

The Senate Commerce Committee unanimously approved the legislation Thursday. It would create a permanent board to arbitrate the jurisdictional row between the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) and the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU).

East Junior, Beavers Tie

East Junior High and Beaver Local battled to a 0-0 tie in the opener for both schools Thursday at the Beaver Local field.

Neither team made a serious threat to score with East marching to the Beavers 20 on one occasion but lost the ball on downs.

East coach John Swan cited guard Mike Lane and tackles Keith Burke and Stan Ice for their defensive performance.

East will play its first home game next Thursday hosting East Palestine.

Kellermann Is Picked Up By Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Defensive back Ernie Kellermann has signed a contract for next season with the Browns, but Coach Blanton Collier is keeping the former Miami University star around where he will be available this season on the "cab" squad.

That now makes seven men on the cab squad, where the Browns put men they can't fit into their plans this year but who have good potential for next season. The cab squad also provides a ready reserve in the event the regular troops are hit by injuries.

Kellermann, who was cut earlier this week by the Dallas Cowboys, said he was "tickled pink" to be signed by the Browns.

"I dreamed about this as a boy," said Kellermann.

The 21-year-old Kellermann, from suburban Maple Heights, was highly recommended by his Miami coach, G. E. (Bo) Schembechler, who is a close friend of Collier.

Trojans Have Prize Halfback

USC And Minnesota Are Set To Kick Off Season Tonight

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Southern California's nationally ranked Trojans put prized halfback Mike Garrett on display tonight as they kick off the first big weekend of the 1965 college football season against Minnesota at Los Angeles Coliseum.

Garrett, a quick and powerful 185-pound senior, is on his way to becoming Southern Cal's all-time rushing leader. He ranked sixth in the country last year with 948 yards and was seventh as a sophomore with 833.

The Trojans, No. 7 in The Associated Press' preseason poll, are solidly favored over the Gophers, led by passing star John Hankinson.

Saturday's program is dotted with other attractive intersectional matches, with virtually all the country's major teams in action.

Nebraska will be out to make its No. 1 national rating stand up, Arkansas will try to extend the country's longest winning string, Notre Dame will see how well it can do without Heisman Trophy winner John Huarte, and Army opens on the road for the first time in its 76-year football history.

Nebraska entertains Texas Christian in its opener. The Cornhuskers are big and seasoned, as pointed out by the fact that they'll have only one sophomore starter—Wayne Mehlan, a guard that goes a mere 238 pounds.

Arkansas, termed by Coach Frank Broyles as "anxious," goes for its 13th successive victory in a night game at Little Rock against Oklahoma State. Arkansas placed sixth in the AP poll.

Notre Dame, minus Huarte, plays at California against the Bears, who also lost an ace quarterback, Craig Morton, through graduation. The Irish rank third in the preseason ratings.

Army's departure from tradition takes the Cadets to Tennessee. Meanwhile, Navy stays in the East and plays host to the team regarded as the best in the region, Syracuse.

In another Eastern highlight, Oregon takes on Pittsburgh. Oregon has won nine straight Oregon takes on Pittsburgh. Oregon has won nine straight against intersectional opponents but only one West Coast team has ever won in Pitt Stadium—UCLA last year.

Midland Given Slight Nod . . .

For the first gaze at the crystal ball, the score came out eight right and four wrong.

We missed on the Wellsville-Oak Glen battle when the Tigers turned in a near-perfect performance to knock over their rivals from West Virginia.

That game was the only mistake Friday, but three wrong guesses appeared Saturday. The misses came on South Side's victory over Center Township, United's win over Leetonia and Canfield's triumph over East Palestine.

We are put directly on the spot tonight with the Midland-East Liverpool encounter, but here's how it looks.

Midland has more experience at every position and the Potters are doubtful of their starting quarterback, plus the fact that only six lettermen are available.

We are picking Midland to win by a touchdown in tonight's top contest in the district.

In other matches tonight, we like Wellsville to roll past Lisbon for victory No. 2 and Wellsburg over Oak Glen.

Southern Local, which won its first game, meets Springfield Local of Jefferson County tonight. We will have to go with the Springfield eleven by two touchdowns.

United should roll over Sebring, while Stanton Local looks like a winner over Mt. Pleasant.

We are picking Youngstown North to defeat Columbiana and East Palestine to open its home season with a victory over West Branch.

The one other contest tonight pits Salem against Ravenna. We will take the improved Quakers over the visitors.

Two games are on tap Saturday. From here it looks like Beaver Local over Leetonia, as the much-improved Beavers play their first game at home.

Krivoshia May Miss Opener . . .

MIKE KRIVOSHIA, the former fullback at Midland who rambled through all opposition during his high school days, may be the No. 1 fullback for Indiana University before the season is over.

Mike was tabbed by head coach Johnny Pont as the first string fullback last week, but the Midland gridder suffered a pulled tendon in his ankle during practice Friday and may be used only part time in Indiana's opener with Kansas State Saturday at Bloomington.

Tom Miller, Indiana's sports information director, says that Pont feels that Krivoshia will make a fine college fullback.

The Indiana coach had been counting on Lee Robinson of Gary, Ind. for the fullback spot, but surgery on his knee has sidelined him for the season. Robinson, who weighed in at 213, the same weight as Krivoshia, was timed in the 100-yard dash at 9.9.

Krivoshia displayed his powerful running well and more than pleased the Indiana coaching staff in pre-season practice.

After his performance in high school, college offers flowed to the Krivoshia household. Brother Dan probably influenced Mike's decision.

Dan played at Indiana in the late 50's, performing at end.

Leopards Shoot For 7th Straight

A crowd of over 6,000 is expected to jam Patterson Field tonight when the East Liverpool Potters meet a strong Midland eleven. Kickoff is at 7:45.

Wellsville-Lisbon Games Starts At 7:45

The Wellsville - Lisbon game tonight at Lisbon will begin at 7:45 p. m. Don Lowe, Wellsville ticket manager, reminded fans.

Midland, a 13-7 loser to the Potters a year ago, will be out to avenge that setback and at the same time will be after its seventh straight victory.

COACH Joe Cochran's team won its last five games of the 1964 season and captured last week's opener with Mohawk.

Midland also prides itself on defense and last season chalked up five shutouts while posting one already this season.

While Cochran was pretty well set on a starting lineup coach Bob McNea will probably have to open without Chuck Winters at the quarterback spot.

WINTERS has not been able to practice much this week after suffering heat exhaustion and was hospitalized last Friday.

McNea will probably start the same backfield used against Beaver Local in the opener with Mike Goodballet moving into the quarterback spot while Jim Gooding fills in at the left half, Nick Marchbanks at the other half and Larry Long at fullback.

Cochran's offensive team will show Rich Mahurt (170) and Larry Walker (175) at ends, Glenn Humbert (195) and Dan Clouse (180) at tackles, Anthony Rosatone (200) and Alfred Monaco (190) at guards and Martin Ciancone (190) at center.

—:—

COCHRAN who was worried about the quarterback spot was pleased with the work of Bernie Mraovic 160-pound senior in the performance he gave against Mohawk.

Mraovic pitched for one touchtown and completed two other aerials for the Leopards.

Listed with Mraovic is an all-veteran backfield of Steve Alston and Jim Smith at halfbacks and Tom Wuchina at fullback. Smith scored twice in last week's opener.

Most of Midland's offensive starters go both ways but Cochran's makes a few changes sending Dan Gornak and Anthony Ciccone to defensive tackles while Dave Vanlier and Pierre Robinson draw safety spots.

Morehead Flips No-Hitter

Tribe Victim Of 1st In AL In 3 Seasons

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Herbert Hoover High School in San Diego, Calif., produces some pretty fair baseball players. It sent Ted Williams to the Boston Red Sox and now Dave Morehead.

The 22-year-old Morehead fired the first American League no-hitter in three years Thursday as he allowed only one man to reach base in the Red Sox' 2-0 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Morehead, who earned a job with the Red Sox in 1963 though only two years out of high shool, barely failed to match Sandy Koufax' perfect game for the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League last week.

The Boston right-hander walked Rocky Colavito on a 3-and-2 pitch at the start of the second inning. Then he struck out Fred Whitfield, Chuck Hinton and Pedro Gonzalez.

"I can't believe it," Morehead said excitedly, his hand shaking. "Look, I threw only 105 pitches. That's my all-time low. And I don't think I have to say it's my all-time thrill."

There was little doubt that Morehead was nervous as he took the mound for the ninth inning. And Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts, an old pro as player and manager, made sure the kid earned his no-hitter.

Morehead, who struck out eight, was called up to face three straight pinch hitters. Larry Brown lined to shortstop Eddie Bressoud and Lou Clinton, a former Boston outfielder, hit a liner directly to center fielder Jim Gosger.

Tebbetts sent up speedy Vic Davilillo. The Red Sox huddled at the mound and decided to try and get Davilillo to hit to the right side, while being alert for a bunt.

Morehead fired two blazing strikes past the Cleveland pinch hitter and Tebbetts hurried from the dugout for a conference with his batter. Unruffled, Morehead threw a fast curve which Davilillo hit back to the mound. Morehead fumbled the ball, then threw into the dirt, but first baseman Lee Thomas scooped it up for the final out.

Morehead, who received an estimated $50,000 bonus after graduation from Herbert Hoover High, had won only nine of 25 previous decisions, while posting an unimposing 4.27 earned run average. He said he used a recently acquired slider with his fast ball and curve.

Morehead's no-hitter, the 10th for a Boston Red Sox pitcher, earned him a new contract with a $1,000 raise. Owner Tom Yawkey congratulated his young hurler and offered the contract, explaining baseball rules ban a bonus.

The no-hitter stole the show from the American League race. The Minnesota Twins were rained out of a scheduled game with Kansas City and their magic number to clinch the pennant remained at six. No other AL games were scheduled.

Mays Rests As Giants Reel Off 14th Straight Victory

Frisco's Lead Hits 4½ Over Reds, Dodgers

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The only thing Willie Mays did was get egg on his shirt but the San Francisco Giants took another long stride toward tucking the National League pennant in their back pocket.

Playing without Mays for only the sixth time this season, the Giants reeled off their 14th straight victory by beating Houston 5-1 Thursday night and stretched their lead to 4½ games over Cincinnati and Los Angeles.

Mays took part in a pregame egg-throwing contest and finished out of the money after one of the eggs broke in his hand and splattered. Then he sat down on orders from Manager Herman Franks, his day's work done.

It was the 15th time this season Franks had decided to give Mays a rest but only the sixth time he was not forced to use him at some point in the game.

The Giants, meanwhile, made the most of Cincinnati's loss to the New York Mets, tacked one full game on their lead and assumed a commanding position with time running out on the Reds and Dodgers.

The Giants now have 16 games left — including seven with the Reds. If they play .500 ball the rest of the way, the Reds and Dodgers will have to win 12 of their remaining 15 games to finish in a tie. Los Angeles and Cincinnati meet three more times.

The Giants move on to Milwaukee tonight for the opener of a three-game series. The Reds, who lost to the Mets 7-3, are at home for a three-game set against Houston and the Dodgers, who downed the Chicago Cubs 2-0, open a three-game series at St. Louis.

In other NL games Thursday, fourth-place Milwaukee slipped seven games back after an 8-6 loss at Philadelphia and fifth-place Pittsburgh fell 9 ½ games behind, dropping a 2-1 decision to St. Louis.

The Giants got the job done against the Astros with a four-run first inning uprising, Willie McCovey's third inning homer and the six-hit pitching of Bob Bolin.

Johnny Stephenson did most of the damage against the Reds. The Mets catcher, who had only one homer going into the game, hit a three-run shot in the third inning and a solo homer in the eighth. He also beat out a bunt for a single in the sixth and scored on a squeeze bunt by pitcher Al Jackson.

Sandy Koufax, the Dodgers 22-game winner, made his second relief appearance of the season in the ninth inning against the Cubs, setting them down 1-2-3 after Claude Osteen had walked leadoff man Billy Williams. Osteen, now 14-14, allowed only five hits before Koufax took over.

The Phillies downed the Braves with a three-run eighth inning rally in which Dick Stuart doubled in the tie-breaking run and then Rich Allen smacked a two-run single. Stuart and Johnny Callison homered for Philadelphia while Eddie Mathews connected for Milwaukee.

The Cardinals snapped a 1-1 tie in the eight-inning against the Pirates when Bob Tolan singled, moved up on a sacrifice and scored on Lou Brock's single. Tracy Stallard got the victory for an 11-7 record.

Vikings Picked To Defeat Colts In Opening Week Upset Special

NEW YORK (AP) — Minnesota to beat Baltimore is the upset special this week in the opening round of pro football picks. As the current record of this wandering sports writer, hot off the vacation trail, is .000 there is only one way to go.

Let's take a guess (all games Sunday afternoon unless otherwise indicated):

NFL

Minnesota 24, Baltimore 20—Frank Tarkenton scrambles and hits Paul Flatley and Hal Bedsole while Tommy Mason and Bill Brown roll. Johnny Unitas-Raymond Berry combo and Lenny Moore TD streak will give Vikings big test. If Grady Alderman is out, Vikings offensive line will be hurting. A real blockbuster for opening day.

Cleveland 31, Washington 28—Browns pack too much wallop with Jimy Brown and Frank Ryan's passing to Gary Collins, especially with Lonnie Sanders out of Redskins' pass defense and Bob Pellegrini on sidelines. 'Skins think they can win it and Sam Huff's defensive platoon is sky high.

Green Bay 34, Pittsburgh 14—Packers look like champs of old with Paul Hornung, Jim Taylor and Bart Starr ready to go. Steelers still shifting personnel. Loss of Myron Pottios took heart out of Pitt defense.

St. Louis 27, Philadelphia 14—Cards have too much punch with Charley Johnson throwing and Bill Triplett running. Eagles' offense spotty.

Los Angeles 17, Detroit 14—Rams jelling under Harland Svare although loss of Lamar Lundy will hurt defense. Milt Plum erratic and Lions' deep defense ain't what she used to be.

San Francisco 23, Chicago 21—The 49ers always give the Bears trouble but both offenses have been shoddy. If Mike Ditka comes back in full stride, Bears can win but San Francisco gets the edge at home.

Dallas 28, New York 14—Cowboys will try to work on Giants' rookie defense. Allie Sherman still grabbing for defensive line help.

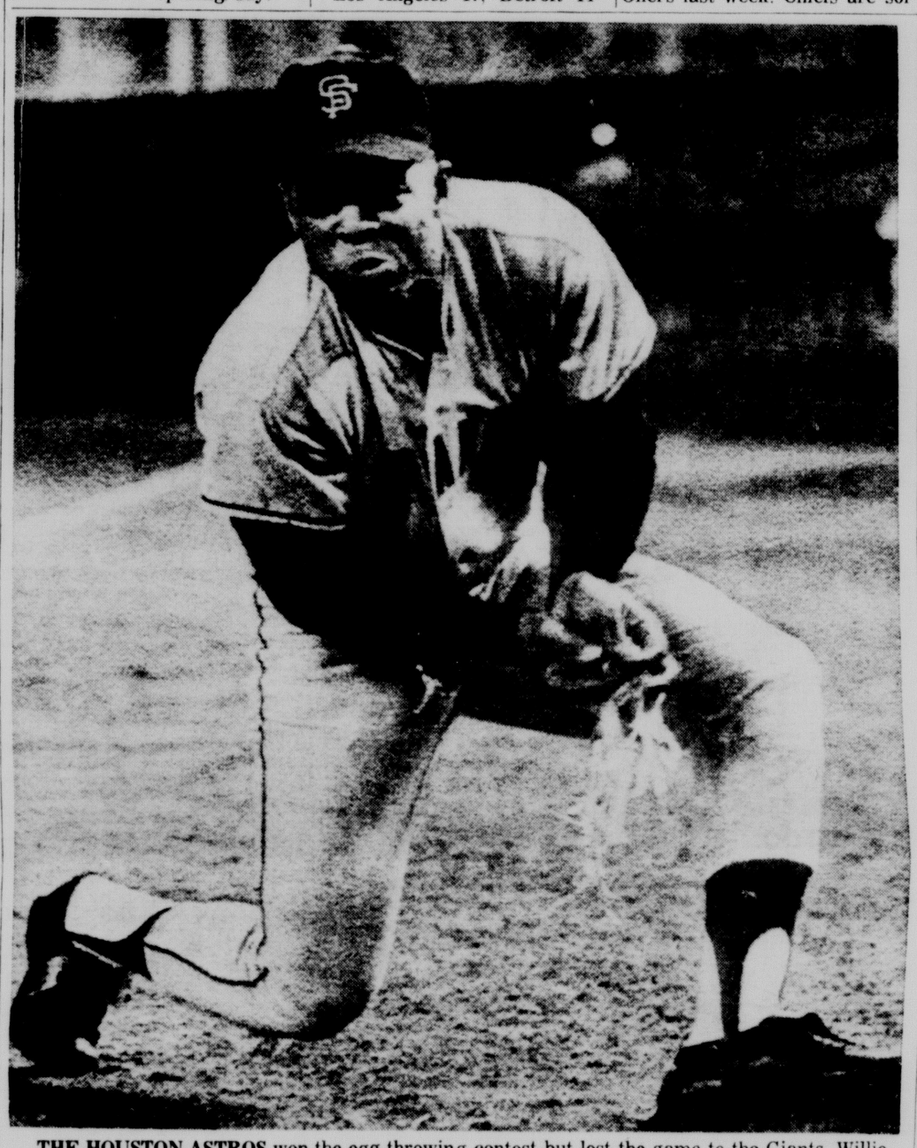
AFL

New York 28, Kansas City 21 (Saturday)—Jets shouldn't fumble seven times again and defense looked pretty fair against Oilers last week. Chiefs are solid club but, like New York, the passing game was weak in the opener. Home edge goes to Jets.

Buffalo 24, Denver 14—Bills look like best in the league with strong holdover personnel that handled Boston with ease in opener. Watch out for fireworks when Cookie Gilchrist meets his old mates.

Oakland 35, San Diego 28—Al Davis may have a sleeper in Raiders and can upset San Diego if Kent McCloughan can contain Lance Alworth. Keith Lincoln's doubtful status hurts Chargers. Oakland misses Archie Matsos.

Houston 21, Boston 17—Oilers are on hot streak and Mike Holovak's Pats are having trouble getting untracked. The Pats will explode one of these days but not this week.



THE HOUSTON ASTROS won the egg throwing contest but lost the game to the Giants. Willie Mays is shown catching a raw egg during the egg throwing and catching contest between the Giants and Astros before Thursday night's game at Houston. The egg broke in Mays hands and the contest went to the Astros. The Giants later won the game, 5-1. (UPI Telephoto)

A Look At The Big 10

Butkus Gone, But Illinois Has Backfield Returning

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Dick Butkus & Company mainly are gone, so this is what Coach Pete Elliott calls a mystery football season at the University of Illinois.

The puzzling Illini open here Saturday against Oregon State.

Super linebacker Butkus led the Illini to Rose Bowl victory after the 1963 season, but Elliott's "outstanding senior group" fell slightly on its face trying to retain the Big Ten title in 1964, tying for fourth with a 4-3 record.

At any rate, 20 lettermen—including Butkus and virtually both entire offensive and defensive lines—graduated from the Illini powerhouse of the past two seasons.

While only 12 lettermen return—including lanky Don Hansen trying to make like Butkus as middle linebacker—the lowly rated Illini may pack considerable punch.

Back is the entire 1964 backfield, including one of the nation's outstanding fullbacks, 211-pound Jim Grabowski—enhanced by Olympic sprinter Trenton Jackson and two touted sophomore backs, Cyril Pinder and Ron Bess.

"Grabowski may find the holes a little smaller this season, but he'll find them," said Elliott of the explosive 1964 Big Ten rushing leader.

Elliott will have eight sophomore starters and no fewer than 19 sophs on his two offensive and two defensive units.

If the offensive line, including a 281-pound sophomore tackle, Willis Fields from Modesto, Calif., can jell, the Illini attack could be stinging with a 200-pound average backfield.

Besides Grabowski, 204-pound Sam Price is back as one of the Big Ten's biggest and most versatile halfbacks. Quarterback Fred Custardo, a seasoned senior like Grabowski and Price, is an effective passer and last season was the second busiest ballcarrier behind Grabowski.

Ron Acks, regular halfback last year, has switched to safety, leaving sophomores Bess, 191, and Pinder, 201, competing as Price's running mate.

Ohio College Elevens Open Up Saturday

By HAL PARIS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's collegiate gridders wing into action Saturday, kicking off the first weekend of the 1965 football season.

Big Ten giant Ohio State is idle until Sept. 25 but 24 of the Buckeye State's 35 football-playing schools are on an 18-game program.

Ohio Northern got the season started early, losing to Waynesburg, Pa., last Saturday, 21-0, and Youngstown gets the weekend rolling Friday night in a home contest against Central Michigan.

Top attractions on the card feature Mid-American Conference teams, Miami (Ohio), which surprised Northwestern a year ago, journeys into Big Ten territory again, this time to tangle with a rugged Purdue eleven.

But the Redskins do not figure to menace the Boilermakers.

Top game in Ohio should be at Bowling Green where the Falcons, picked again to cop the Mid - Am title, entertain strong Los Angeles State.

Ohio University plays host to West Texas State in an intersectional tiff at Athens. Star OU fullback Wash Lyons, with two injured toes, may not be ready.

Coach Leo Strang takes his highly touted Kent State team to Xavier and Cincinnati plays Dayton in another Queen City skirmish. Both are night games.

Sophomore - studded Toledo gets its baptism against potent Villanova on the road and two schools with outstanding records last season—Findlay (9-1) and Muskingum (8-1)—collide in a night contest at Findlay.

Native Diver Tries Luck In UN Event

By ORLO ROBERTSON

Native Diver, a shining star in California but a bust in his lone start outside his native state, tries again Saturday to prove he'll need to be considered when the championship awards are handed out at the end of the year.

The huge black 6-year-old gelded son of Imbros, winner of 23 stakes in California with five of them this year, is the top-weight in the field of 11 for the $125,000 United Nations Handicap at Atlantic City.

The U.N., a 1 3-16-mile test on the grass worth $75,000 to the winner, is the richest race on Saturday's national card.

Native Diver, winner of $548,850 for Mr. and Mrs. Lou K. Shapiro, never had raced outside of California until the recent Washington Handicap at Arlington Park. In that race he finished near the end of the field.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Defensive end Jack Evans of Dover and offensive end Jim Barr of Akron have been named co-captains for Xavier University's season - opening football game with Kent State on Saturday night.

Tribe Sends Farmhand To Hill Tonight

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tom Kelley, a New England Irishman called up from the Portland club to put some new life into the Indians' pitching staff, takes the mound tonight against the Chicago White Sox.

The 21-year-old right - hander appeared in six Indians' games in relief roles last season, but this will be his first major league start.

The Irishman's 16-3 record with the West Coast club included a no-hitter — something the Cleveland team ran into Thursday at Boston as Dave Morehead fired the first American League no-hitter since Jack Kralick turned the trick for Minnesota in 1962.

Luis Tiant—evening his record at 11-11—was in good form in the 2-0 loss as he fanned 10 and allowed only six hits, including Lee Thomas' 20th homer of the season.

Mays Rests As Giants Reel Off 14th Straight Victory

Frisco's Lead Hits 4½ Over Reds, Dodgers

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The only thing Willie Mays did was get egg on his shirt but the San Francisco Giants took another long stride toward tucking the National League pennant in their back pocket.

Playing without Mays for only the sixth time this season, the Giants reeled off their 14th straight victory by beating Houston 5-1 Thursday night and stretched their lead to 4½ games over Cincinnati and Los Angeles.

Mays took part in a pregame egg-throwing contest and finished out of the money after one of the eggs broke in his hand and splattered. Then he sat down on orders from Manager Herman Franks, his day's work done.

It was the 15th time this season Franks had decided to give Mays a rest but only the sixth time he was not forced to use him at some point in the game.

The Giants, meanwhile, made the most of Cincinnati's loss to the New York Mets, tacked one full game on their lead and assumed a commanding position with time running out on the Reds and Dodgers.

The Giants now have 16 games left — including seven with the Reds. If they play .500 ball the rest of the way, the Reds and Dodgers will have to win 12 of their remaining 15 games to finish in a tie. Los Angeles and Cincinnati meet three more times.

The Giants move on to Milwaukee tonight for the opener of a three-game series. The Reds, who lost to the Mets 7-3, are at home for a three-game set against Houston and the Dodgers, who downed the Chicago Cubs 2-0, open a three-game series at St. Louis.

In other NL games Thursday, fourth-place Milwaukee slipped seven games back after an 8-6 loss at Philadelphia and fifth-place Pittsburgh fell 9 ½ games behind, dropping a 2-1 decision to St. Louis.

The Giants got the job done against the Astros with a four-run first inning uprising, Willie McCovey's third inning homer and the six-hit pitching of Bob Bolin.

Johnny Stephenson did most of the damage against the Reds. The Mets catcher, who had only one homer going into the game, hit a three-run shot in the third inning and a solo homer in the eighth. He also beat out a bunt for a single in the sixth and scored on a squeeze bunt by pitcher Al Jackson.

Sandy Koufax, the Dodgers 22-game winner, made his second relief appearance of the season in the ninth inning against the Cubs, setting them down 1-2-3 after Claude Osteen had walked leadoff man Billy Williams. Osteen, now 14-14, allowed only five hits before Koufax took over.

The Phillies downed the Braves with a three-run eighth inning rally in which Dick Stuart doubled in the tie-breaking run and then Rich Allen smacked a two-run single. Stuart and Johnny Callison homered for Philadelphia while Eddie Mathews connected for Milwaukee.

The Cardinals snapped a 1-1 tie in the eight-inning against the Pirates when Bob Tolan singled, moved up on a sacrifice and scored on Lou Brock's single. Tracy Stallard got the victory for an 11-7 record.

Cleveland 31, Washington 28—Browns pack too much wallop with Jimy Brown and Frank Ryan's passing to Gary Collins, especially with Lonnie Sanders out of Redskins' pass defense and Bob Pellegrini on sidelines. 'Skins think they can win it and Sam Huff's defensive platoon is sky high.

Green Bay 34, Pittsburgh 14—Packers look like champs of old with Paul Hornung, Jim Taylor and Bart Starr ready to go. Steelers still shifting personnel. Loss of Myron Pottios took heart out of Pitt defense.

St. Louis 27, Philadelphia 14—Cards have too much punch with Charley Johnson throwing and Bill Triplett running. Eagles' offense spotty.

Los Angeles 17, Detroit 14—Rams jelling under Harland Svare although loss of Lamar Lundy will hurt defense. Milt Plum erratic and Lions' deep defense ain't what she used to be.

San Francisco 23, Chicago 21—The 49ers always give the Bears trouble but both offenses have been shoddy. If Mike Ditka comes back in full stride, Bears can win but San Francisco gets the edge at home.

Dallas 28, New York 14—Cowboys will try to work on Giants' rookie defense. Allie Sherman still grabbing for defensive line help.

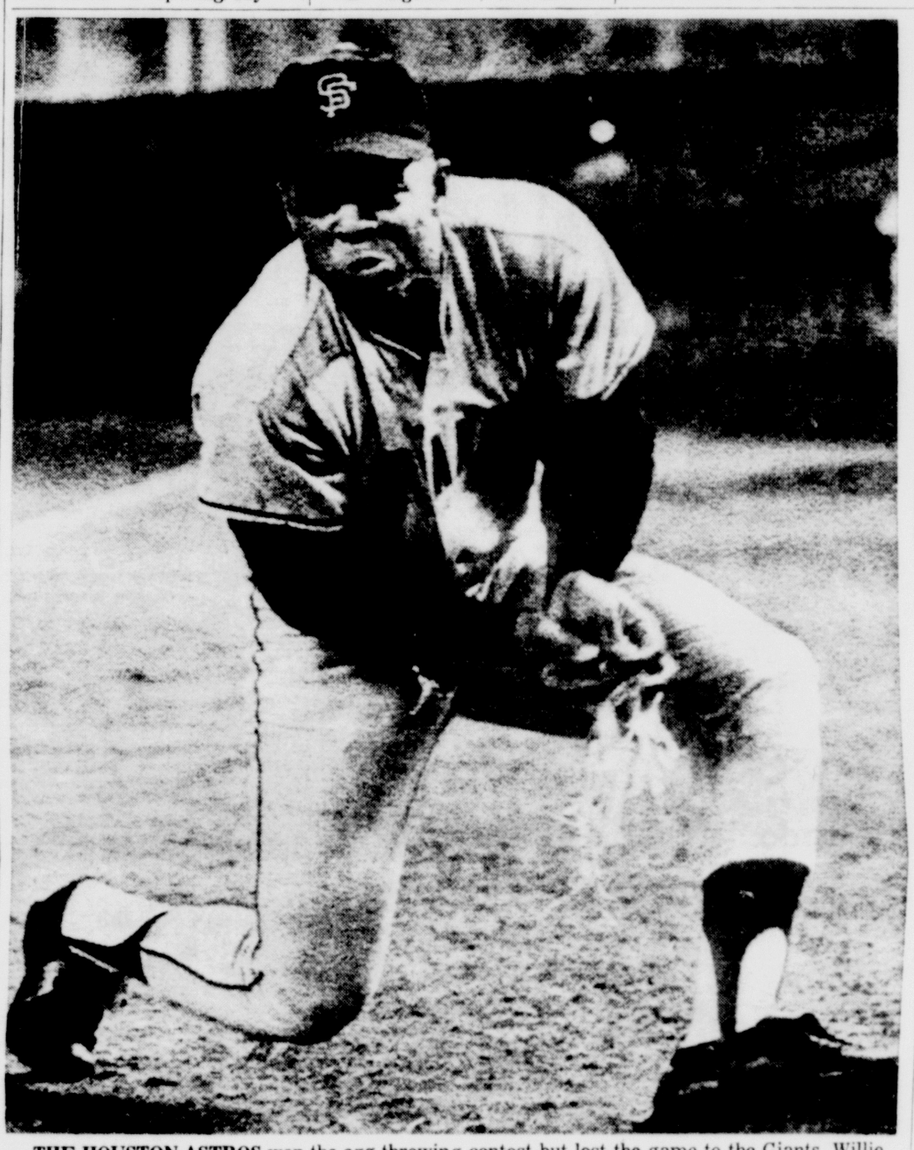
AFL

New York 28, Kansas City 21 (Saturday)—Jets shouldn't fumble seven times again and defense looked pretty fair against Oilers last week. Chiefs are solid club but, like New York, the passing game was weak in the opener. Home edge goes to Jets.

Buffalo 24, Denver 14—Bills look like best in the league with strong holdover personnel that handled Boston with ease in opener. Watch out for fireworks when Cookie Gilchrist meets his old mates.

Oakland 35, San Diego 28—Al Davis may have a sleeper in Raiders and can upset San Diego if Kent McCloughan can contain Lance Alworth. Keith Lincoln's doubtful status hurts Chargers. Oakland misses Archie Matsos.

Houston 21, Boston 17—Oilers are on hot streak and Mike Holovak's Pats are having trouble getting untracked. The Pats will explode one of these days but not this week.



THE HOUSTON ASTROS won the egg throwing contest but lost the game to the Giants. Willie Mays is shown catching a raw egg during the egg throwing and catching contest between the Giants and Astros before Thursday night's game at Houston. The egg broke in Mays hands and the contest went to the Astros. The Giants later won the game, 5-1. (UPI Telephoto)

A Look At The Big 10

Butkus Gone, But Illinois Has Backfield Returning

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Dick Butkus & Company mainly are gone, so this is what Coach Pete Elliott calls a mystery football season at the University of Illinois.

The puzzling Illini open here Saturday against Oregon State.

Super linebacker Butkus led the Illini to Rose Bowl victory after the 1963 season, but Elliott's "outstanding senior group" fell slightly on its face trying to retain the Big Ten title in 1964, tying for fourth with a 4-3 record.

At any rate, 20 lettermen—including Butkus and virtually both entire offensive and defensive lines—graduated from the Illini powerhouse of the past two seasons.

While only 12 lettermen return—including lanky Don Hansen trying to make like Butkus as middle linebacker—the lowly rated Illini may pack considerable punch.

Back is the entire 1964 backfield, including one of the nation's outstanding fullbacks, 211-pound Jim Grabowski—enhanced by Olympic sprinter Trenton Jackson and two touted sophomore backs, Cyril Pinder and Ron Bess.

"Grabowski may find the holes a little smaller this season, but he'll find them," said Elliott of the explosive 1964 Big Ten rushing leader.

Elliott will have eight sophomore starters and no fewer than 19 sophs on his two offensive and two defensive units.

If the offensive line, including a 281-pound sophomore tackle, Willis Fields from Modesto, Calif., can jell, the Illini attack could be stinging with a 200-pound average backfield.

Besides Grabowski, 204-pound Sam Price is back as one of the Big Ten's biggest and most versatile halfbacks. Quarterback Fred Custardo, a seasoned senior like Grabowski and Price, is an effective passer and last season was the second busiest ballcarrier behind Grabowski.

Ron Acks, regular halfback last year, has switched to safety, leaving sophomores Bess, 191, and Pinder, 201, competing as Price's running mate.

Ohio College Elevens Open Up Saturday

By HAL PARIS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's collegiate gridders wing into action Saturday, kicking off the first weekend of the 1965 football season.

Big Ten giant Ohio State is idle until Sept. 25 but 24 of the Buckeye State's 35 football-playing schools are on an 18-game program.

Ohio Northern got the season started early, losing to Waynesburg, Pa., last Saturday, 21-0, and Youngstown gets the weekend rolling Friday night in a home contest against Central Michigan.

Top attractions on the card feature Mid-American Conference teams. Miami (Ohio), which surprised Northwestern a year ago, journeys into Big Ten territory again, this time to tangle with a rugged Purdue eleven.

But the Redskins do not figure to menace the Boilermakers.

Top game in Ohio should be at Bowling Green where the Falcons, picked again to cop the Mid - Am title, entertain strong Los Angeles State.

Ohio University plays host to West Texas State in an intersectional tiff at Athens. Star OU fullback Wash Lyons, with two injured toes, may not be ready.

Coach Leo Strang takes his highly touted Kent State team to Xavier and Cincinnati plays Dayton in another Queen City skirmish. Both are night games.

Sophomore - studded Toledo gets its baptism against potent Villanova on the road and two schools with outstanding records last season—Findlay (9-1) and Muskingum (8-1)—collide in a night contest at Findlay.

Native Diver Tries Luck In UN Event

By ORLO ROBERTSON

Native Diver, a shining star in California but a bust in his lone start outside his native state, tries again Saturday to prove he'll need to be considered when the championship awards are handed out at the end of the year.

The huge black 6-year-old gelded son of Imbros, winner of 23 stakes in California with five of them this year, is the top-weight in the field of 11 for the $125,000 United Nations Handicap at Atlantic City.

The U.N., a 1 3-16-mile test on the grass worth $75,000 to the winner, is the richest race on Saturday's national card.

Native Diver, winner of $548,850 for Mr. and Mrs. Lou K. Shapiro, never had raced outside of California until the recent Washington Handicap at Arlington Park. In that race he finished near the end of the field.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Defensive end Jack Evans of Dover and offensive end Jim Barr of Akron have been named co-captains for Xavier University's season - opening football game with Kent State on Saturday night.

Tribe Sends Farmhand To Hill Tonight

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tom Kelley, a New England Irishman called up from the Portland club to put some new life into the Indians' pitching staff, takes the mound tonight against the Chicago White Sox.

The 21-year-old right - hander appeared in six Indians' games in relief roles last season, but this will be his first major league start.

The Irishman's 16-3 record with the West Coast club included a no-hitter — something the Cleveland team ran into Thursday at Boston as Dave Morehead fired the first American League no-hitter since Jack Kralick turned the trick for Minnesota in 1962.

Luis Tiant—evening his record at 11-11—was in good form in the 2-0 loss as he fanned 10 and allowed only six hits, including Lee Thomas' 20th homer of the season.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

'Rawhide' Tougher Than Rasputin

When TV's film producers are in doubt, which is most of the time, they make a Western or a comedy. Among this season's 33 new network starters are 17 comedies and 6 Westerns.

Hal Humphrey

Comedies are a relatively easy item to sell networks and sponsors because they come equipped with laugh tracks, which tend to lure the prospective buyers into a false sense of security.

-:-

WITH WESTERNS it's the lone man and his gun which make the Madison Avenue men easier pushovers than many home viewers. There isn't an agency or network man alive today who wouldn't love to shoot some guy down the hall, then ride off across the George Washington Bridge into the New Jersey sunset.

For durability the Western generally outstrips the comedy, once it is on the air and gets by that first nervous season. CBS' venerable "Rawhide" series is a good cast in point. With a minimum of promotion and a maximum of managerial pulling and hauling, "Rawhide" has survived six seasons.

Last Tuesday it began a seventh without one of the two co-stars and in another new time slot and with a new executive producer. Any one of those major changes would be enough to sink the average non-Western series, but it isn't likely to affect "Rawhide," which ironically had its debut postponed from September 1958 until the following January because the network couldn't rustle up enough sponsorship.

ENDRE BOHEM, who started out as story editor for the series, later was made producer. He was relieved of that duty some seasons after that, then brought back again, but is now out.

The cast of regular drovers on the "Rawhide" cattle drive has been shaken up from time to time, too. Sheb Wooley (he composed the once-famous "Purple People Eaters" song) was in, out, in and now out again.

Clint Eastwood, the Rowdy Yates of "Rawhide," was in Europe this summer doing a Western movie and a friend sent him a clipping from a trade paper announcing that he, Eastwood, would be the only star as co-star Eric Fleming (Gil Favor) was leaving the series. It was the first Eastwood had heard of it.

-:-

"WHEN I GOT BACK here," says Eastwood, "CBS just said go to work. There was no talk about more money or anything. In the first show of this season they don't even explain how Rowdy Yates is promoted from ramrod to trail boss."

Fleming's leave-taking was a mutual kind of thing. His contract was up, and CBS wasn't interested in renewing it at the price Fleming was asking.

"I'm just as happy," says Fleming. "I get a chance to fish, play tennis and live a little. Also I'm doing a comedy bit in Doris Day's new movie."

As trail boss on "Rawhide," Eastwood already has discovered how restricted the role is. Instead of the carefree, trouble-prone top hand he played before, Eastwood now must be the rigid disciplinarian and father image to his drovers.

-:-

"I'D LIKE to see the show stay good, but I don't know if it can," muses Eastwood. "It should be in color, but now they say it can't be done because there's no stock footage of the cattle drive in color. Bohem was going to shoot some, but he's out, and nobody else thought of it."

One reason for such short-sightedness no doubt can be explained by the fact that "Rawhide" was not scheduled to be back at all this season.

James Aubrey, who lost his CBS throne last February, already had canceled the series. When the new regime took over, those shows canceled under Aubrey were almost all reinstated. It seeed the safe thing to do under the circumstances.

-:-

ANYWAY, as cited here at the beginning, there hardly is anything safer to do than a Western. And if Eastwood doesn't get his glory from "Rawhide," he will from the two European Westerns he did.

The first one, "For a Fistful of Dollars," has made him a big name on the Continent. It's a Spanish-German-Italian coproduction shot in Spain with an Italian director and taken from a Japanese samurai story.

"The salary wasn't so wild," says Eastwood, "but the expenses were good."

Yew Threatens To Offer Russia Singapore Base

SINGAPORE (AP) — Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew threatened today to offer Russia a Singapore military base if the United States takes over the defense of Malaysia.

Lee, in another bitter anti-American outburst, declared: "If the Americans step into the shoes of the British, this place is lost."

He declared he could get the Russians into this newly independent island state.

"I could make sure that the U.S. 7th Fleet could not use the Singapore Straits," he added.

The strategic Singapore Straits are the gateway from the Pacific to the Indian Ocean.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

'Rawhide' Tougher Than Rasputin

When TV's film producers are in doubt, which is most of the time, they make a Western or a comedy. Among this season's 33 new network starters are 17 comedies and 6 Westerns.

Hal Humphrey

Comedies are a relatively easy item to sell networks and sponsors because they come equipped with laugh tracks, which tend to lure the prospective buyers into a false sense of security.

-:-

WITH WESTERNS it's the lone man and his gun which make the Madison Avenue men easier pushovers than many home viewers. There isn't an agency or network man alive today who wouldn't love to shoot some guy down the hall, then ride off across the George Washington Bridge into the New Jersey sunset.

For durability the Western generally outstrips the comedy, once it is on the air and gets by that first nervous season. CBS' venerable "Rawhide" series is a good cast in point. With a minimum of promotion and a maximum of managerial pulling and hauling, "Rawhide" has survived six seasons.

Last Tuesday it began a seventh without one of the two co-stars and in another new time slot and with a new executive producer. Any one of those major changes would be enough to sink the average non-Western series, but it isn't likely to affect "Rawhide," which ironically had its debut postponed from September 1958 until the following January because the network couldn't rustle up enough sponsorship.

ENDRE BOHEM, who started out as story editor for the series, later was made producer. He was relieved of that duty some seasons after that, then brought back again, but is now out.

The cast of regular drovers on the "Rawhide" cattle drive has been shaken up from time to time, too. Sheb Wooley (he composed the once-famous "Purple People Eaters" song) was in, out, in and now out again.

Clint Eastwood, the Rowdy Yates of "Rawhide," was in Europe this summer doing a Western movie and a friend sent him a clipping from a trade paper announcing that he, Eastwood, would be the only star as co-star Eric Fleming (Gil Favor) was leaving the series. It was the first Eastwood had heard of it.

-:-

"WHEN I GOT BACK here," says Eastwood, "CBS just said go to work. There was no talk about more money or anything. In the first show of this season they don't even explain how Rowdy Yates is promoted from ramrod to trail boss."

Fleming's leave-taking was a mutual kind of thing. His contract was up, and CBS wasn't interested in renewing it at the price Fleming was asking.

"I'm just as happy," says Fleming. "I get a chance to fish, play tennis and live a little. Also I'm doing a comedy bit in Doris Day's new movie."

As trail boss on "Rawhide," Eastwood already has discovered how restricted the role is. Instead of the carefree, trouble-prone top hand he played before, Eastwood now must be the rigid disciplinarian and father image to his drovers.

-:-

"I'D LIKE to see the show stay good, but I don't know if it can," muses Eastwood. "It should be in color, but now they say it can't be done because there's no stock footage of the cattle drive in color. Bohem was going to shoot some, but he's out, and nobody else thought of it."

One reason for such shortsightedness no doubt can be explained by the fact that "Rawhide" was not scheduled to be back at all this season.

James Aubrey, who lost his CBS throne last February, already had canceled the series. When the new regime took over, those shows canceled under Aubrey were almost all reinstated. It seeed the safe thing to do under the circumstances.

-:-

ANYWAY, as cited here at the beginning, there hardly is anything safer to do than a Western. And if Eastwood doesn't get his glory from "Rawhide," he will from the two European Westerns he did.

The first one, "For a Fistful of Dollars," has made him a big name on the Continent. It's a Spanish-German-Italian coproduction shot in Spain with an Italian director and taken from a Japanese samurai story.

"The salary wasn't so wild," says Eastwood, "but the expenses were good."

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Folks: If you go to the store once a week, as I do—watch for bargains. (Read the ads in your paper and compare prices.)

After all, if you buy boxes of doughnuts, sweet rolls, etc., you're not going to eat them all in one day. So, what to do?

As soon as you return home, open the packables, remove the contents and mix them up. For instance, put a few sweet rolls, chocolate covered doughnuts, powdered doughnuts, etc., together in one package, and put it in your deep freeze.

This way you will have a variety of mixed fresh buns, doughnuts and sweet rolls when you need them—instead of eating doughnuts three days in succession.

Big bread manufacturing companies have written and told me that when you take some of their baked goods direct from the packages, re-wrap and place in your freezer, that it does not age!

I have used this idea for our family for a number of years—wonderful!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I keep a pair of embroidery hoops in my laundry room.

They are handy for holding the material taut when working on stains.

SOPHIE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: A hint to mothers of babies learning to crawl:

If the baby scoots on his tummy and can't get the technique, try crawling around the floor with him at his favorite playtime.

I taught my two youngsters to crawl this way!

JUNE COOK.

-:-

DEAR HELOISE: After airing my overnight bag or suitcase, I put a cake of unwrapped soap into it before putting it away.

This eliminates that stale, musty odor.

KATHIE BORAAS.

DEAR HELOISE: Pacifiers for babies are quite the going thing now, but I got very tired of running to the sink to wash it—yet never knowing where to lay it down without it touching something.

I found it suspends very nicely by its decorator ring on the edge of a baby food jar. . . which I'm sure every mother, with a use for a pacifier, would have around the house!

JAN BEFORT.

DEAR HELOISE: I covered a cardboard box with a beige and gold adhesive paper to blend with the walnut table on which I keep my portable sewing machine.

I put the pretty, covered box over the head of the machine, and it prevents dust from getting into it, and also looks very attractive.

-:-

And, you know what?

Those of you who have cabinet-type sewing machines, and like to leave them open so you can sew up a seam any time you wish—why don't you use this idea, too?

As the nice lady says, it will prevent dust from getting into your machine, and it will be far more attractive than seeing the head of the machine.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: For those who carry lunches:

Keep an empty, insulated ice cream bag in your locker or desk.

Just place your lunch in its own bag inside the insulated bag, and the lunch will be cool and fresher tasting when noon time comes around.

LOIS W. BROWN.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

New Approach, Plus Exercise, Alter Picture

A teen - ager writes that she has her weight problem on her mind 24 hours a day. She goes to sleep with it and wakes up with it.

Ida Jean Kain

"The more I think about my weight problem," she says, "the more I eat. The more I eat, the fatter I become. And the fatter I become, the more I look in the mirror and see myself, and the more I look, the tenser I become, and then I take it out on others."

You need a new perspective. Try this eye-opener. Take a big piece of white paper. In the center make one small black dot. Hold the paper at arm's length, and what do you see? You may see only the black dot. But why not look at all the white space surrounding the dot?

BY DWELLING on your weight problem all the time, you are unable to think constructively about getting on with happy living. You are in a vicious circle in your thinking. One excellent way to break that pattern is with active exercise. Physical exercise is nature's way of dispelling tension, so do something daily to let off steam. This very day, walk three miles, which will take one hour. Make it a penny walk, tossing a coin to see which direction you are to take.

Do an about - face in your thinking. You know the way you want to look. . .shapely normal weight and glowing with health. That is the picture to give your mind. There is a deep tendency in human nature to become like the picture habitually held in mind.

I believe you are one teen-ager who has what it takes to make your dreams come true. Why? Because you are seeking help and you are willing to act. Actually, you are quite an admirable young lady, so why not start to like yourself better? It is important to respect yourself, for then you want to live up to your best self. Gradually you will feel less tense, less explosive.

ALSO, stop feeling guilty about every mouthful of food you eat. Reducing and weight control are a way of eating. Eat three adequate, well-balanced meals a day — cut out the "junk" foods. After school have a pick up: an ounce wedge of cheese, a hard cooked egg, a piece of meat or a glass of milk. No sweets. Grab hold of this promise, that if you will get your everyday ways of eating in the right pattern, you can control your weight beautifully for the rest of your life.

Make this an adventure. Give your inner mind the blueprint of the girl you want to become. By this thought - process you harness your will to the pictured goal.

Try this plan. Begin daily exercise. . .the more regular your exercise, the more alive you'll feel, and the more alive you feel, the more activities you will enjoy, and the less you will feel goaded to overeat. The happier you feel, the more you will like people; and the more you like people, the more people will like you.

Then you'll hold life and happiness right in the palm of your hand.

Meeting Set Monday

Rhodes, Saxbe To Talk On Reapportion Problem

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes will meet Monday with Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe to discuss the next stop in Ohio's complicated reapportionment problem.

Rhodes called the meeting Thursday after a three - judge federal court set an Oct. 15 deadline for filing of plans to redistrict the House and Senate on an equal population basis.

The panel, which ordered reapportionment a year ago to implement the U. S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" decision, acted after failure of the legislature to get the job done. The assembly took final adjournment Sept. 1.

Legislative leaders expressed surprise that the Senate was included in the court order, although a pending suit contends it—as well as the House—is malapportioned. The legislature made no effort to redistrict the upper chamber.

Judge Paul C. Weick of the 6th U. S. Court of Appeals, Akron, heads the panel which apparently will devise a substitute for a plan defeated by voters in the May 4 primary. He said the Senate was included in the undertaking to remove doubts and added the jurists did not want "to do the job piecemeal.

The new court order calls on the governor and plaintiffs in lawsuits challenging Ohio apportionment to submit proposals, but also says "any person or persons" may submit a plan.

Apparently this revives a long-discarded Republican administration plan to reapportion on the basis of congressional districts. The governor suggested soon after the Supreme Court decision a plan under which two state senators and six representatives would be elected from each of the state's congressional districts.

But doubts over legality and Democratic observations that Republicans dominate the state's congressional delegation resulted in scrapping of the plan.

These doubts still run high among state officials who question whether the Oct. 15, 1964, decision by the three-judge panel—striking the Hanna Amendment—left other sections of the Ohio Constitution intact. The Hanna Amendment, approved in 1903, guaranteed each county a House seat regardless of population.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Folks: If you go to the store once a week, as I do—watch for bargains. (Read the ads in your paper and compare prices.)

After all, if you buy boxes of doughnuts, sweet rolls, etc., you're not going to eat them all in one day. So, what to do?

As soon as you return home, open the packables, remove the contents and mix them up. For instance, put a few sweet rolls, chocolate covered doughnuts, powdered doughnuts, etc., together in one package, and put it in your deep freeze.

This way you will have a variety of mixed fresh buns, doughnuts and sweet rolls when you need them—instead of eating doughnuts three days in succession.

Big bread manufacturing companies have written and told me that when you take some of their baked goods direct from the packages, re-wrap and place in your freezer, that it does not age!

I have used this idea for our family for a number of years—wonderful!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I keep a pair of embroidery hoops in my laundry room.

They are handy for holding the material taut when working on stains.

SOPHIE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: A hint to mothers of babies learning to crawl:

If the baby scoots on his tummy and can't get the technique, try crawling around the floor with him at his favorite playtime.

I taught my two youngsters to crawl this way!

JUNE COOK.

-:-

DEAR HELOISE: After airing my overnight bag or suitcase, I put a cake of unwrapped soap into it before putting it away.

This eliminates that stale, musty odor.

KATHIE BORAAS.

DEAR HELOISE: Pacifiers for babies are quite the going thing now, but I got very tired of running to the sink to wash it—yet never knowing where to lay it down without it touching something.

I found it suspends very nicely by its decorator ring on the edge of a baby food jar. . . which I'm sure every mother, with a use for a pacifier, would have around the house!

JAN BEFORT.

DEAR HELOISE: I covered a cardboard box with a beige and gold adhesive paper to blend with the walnut table on which I keep my portable sewing machine.

I put the pretty, covered box over the head of the machine, and it prevents dust from getting into it, and also looks very attractive.

-:-

And, you know what?

Those of you who have cabinet-type sewing machines, and like to leave them open so you can sew up a seam any time you wish—why don't you use this idea, too?

As the nice lady says, it will prevent dust from getting into your machine, and it will be far more attractive than seeing the head of the machine.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: For those who carry lunches:

Keep an empty, insulated ice cream bag in your locker or desk.

Just place your lunch in its own bag inside the insulated bag, and the lunch will be cool and fresher tasting when noon time comes around.

LOIS W. BROWN.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

New Approach, Plus Exercise, Alter Picture

A teen - ager writes that she has her weight problem on her mind 24 hours a day. She goes to sleep with it and wakes up with it.

Ida Jean Kain

"The more I think about my weight problem," she says, "the more I eat. The more I eat, the fatter I become. And the fatter I become, the more I look in the mirror and see myself, and the more I look, the tenser I become, and then I take it out on others."

You need a new perspective. Try this eye-opener. Take a big piece of white paper. In the center make one small black dot. Hold the paper at arm's length, and what do you see? You may see only the black dot. But why not look at all the white space surrounding the dot?

BY DWELLING on your weight problem all the time, you are unable to think constructively about getting on with happy living. You are in a vicious circle in your thinking. One excellent way to break that pattern is with active exercise. Physical exercise is nature's way of dispelling tension, so do something daily to let off steam. This very day, walk three miles, which will take one hour. Make it a penny walk, tossing a coin to see which direction you are to take.

Do an about - face in your thinking. You know the way you want to look. . .shapely normal weight and glowing with health. That is the picture to give your mind. There is a deep tendency in human nature to become like the picture habitually held in mind.

I believe you are one teen-ager who has what it takes to make your dreams come true. Why? Because you are seeking help and you are willing to act. Actually, you are quite an admirable young lady, so why not start to like yourself better? It is important to respect yourself, for then you want to live up to your best self. Gradually you will feel less tense, less explosive.

ALSO, stop feeling guilty about every mouthful of food you eat. Reducing and weight control are a way of eating. Eat three adequate, well-balanced meals a day — cut out the "junk" foods. After school have a pick up: an ounce wedge of cheese, a hard cooked egg, a piece of meat or a glass of milk. No sweets. Grab hold of this promise, that if you will get your everyday ways of eating in the right pattern, you can control your weight beautifully for the rest of your life.

Make this an adventure. Give your inner mind the blueprint of the girl you want to become. By this thought - process you harness your will to the pictured goal.

Try this plan. Begin daily exercise. . .the more regular your exercise, the more alive you'll feel, and the more alive you feel, the more activities you will enjoy, and the less you will feel goaded to overeat. The happier you feel, the more you will like people; and the more you like people, the more people will like you.

Then you'll hold life and happiness right in the palm of your hand.

Send stamped, self - addressed, long envelope for Teen-Age Challenge and Slim Hips In A Hurry. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Review.

Meeting Set Monday

Rhodes, Saxbe To Talk On Reapportion Problem

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes will meet Monday with Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe to discuss the next stop in Ohio's complicated reapportionment problem.

Rhodes called the meeting Thursday after a three - judge federal court set an Oct. 15 deadline for filing of plans to redistrict the House and Senate on an equal population basis.

The panel, which ordered reapportionment a year ago to implement the U. S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" decision, acted after failure of the legislature to get the job done. The assembly took final adjournment Sept. 1.

Legislative leaders expressed surprise that the Senate was included in the court order, although a pending suit contends it—as well as the House—is malapportioned. The legislature made no effort to redistrict the upper chamber.

Judge Paul C. Weick of the 6th U. S. Court of Appeals, Akron, heads the panel which apparently will devise a substitute for a plan defeated by voters in the May 4 primary. He said the Senate was included in the undertaking to remove doubts and added the jurists did not want "to do the job piecemeal.

The new court order calls on the governor and plaintiffs in lawsuits challenging Ohio apportionment to submit proposals, but also says "any person or persons" may submit a plan.

Apparently this revives a long-discarded Republican administration plan to reapportion on the basis of congressional districts. The governor suggested soon after the Supreme Court decision a plan under which two state senators and six representatives would be elected from each of the state's congressional districts.

But doubts over legality and Democratic observations that Republicans dominate the state's congressional delegation resulted in scrapping of the plan.

These doubts still run high among state officials who question whether the Oct. 15, 1964, decision by the three-judge panel—striking the Hanna Amendment—left other sections of the Ohio Constitution intact. The Hanna Amendment, approved in 1903, guaranteed each county a House seat regardless of population.

IT'S SENSE TO BUY

933 May St. Near Westgate School, very well-kept two story home, large clean bedrooms, nice kitchen and bath, small enclosed family porch at the rear (screened), full basement, gas furnace, garage — plus a four stall garage which brings in $20 per month. $7,900.

1732 Holiday St. The nicest part of the street, away from traffic, two big level lots, double garage, and a sparkling one story cottage, full basement, brand new gas furnace, dining room, enclosed laundry and small den at the rear. It should interest you at $9,800.

1061 St. George St. Two nice homes on the same lot, main one with brick porch columns, three bedrooms, in good condition, the other is a two bedroom, two story, nicely kept and rented. It is an amazing buy at $10,500 for both.

Bloomfield. Modern white frame with attached garage, all hardwood floors, carpeted living room and hall, clean and in good condition, plenty of storage space, full basement, gas heat, nice level lot with shade trees and blue spruce. $11,500.

Family business, good location. Has been in operation for years and is only for sale due to a death in the family, has all equipment and fully stocked, two apartments bringing in more than $100 per month, full basement, gas furnace, extra lot for expansion. By appointment only. Less than $20,000 for all, or may lease.

Small Cash and Carry (downtown). There is plenty of work, plenty of activity here, just a little too much for the owner with present health. Makes a good income for a husband and wife, and your cost would be only $4,500. Does not own building.

Acreage. Sprucevale about 2.9 miles from Calcutta, approximately 50 acres with good medium sized barn, land ranges from pasture and wooded to highly tillable. The tract to go at $120 per acre.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I, when preparing my laundry starch, avoid the formation of skin over my starch?

A. — By covering the bowl with a piece of cloth, stretched tight, as soon as the starch is made.

Q. How can I get longer life from my pastry brush?

A. — By washing and drying it carefully after each using. Hang it up to dry where the air circulates before putting it away.

Q.—How can I make my own reflective tape?

A.—Press masking tape onto a strip of cellophane. Coat the back with colored enamel. When the enamel is tacky, pass the tape through reflecting glass beads (obtainable in art-supply stores) in a shallow tray or box lid. When the tape is dry, remove the cellophane, and apply it where needed.

Q.—What can I do about deep, unsightly scratches on mahogany furniture?

A.—One simple treatment that might work in your case consists of filling in the scratches with tincture of iodine, then applying furniture polish or wax, and polishing well.

Q. — How can I remove rain spots from suede articles, such as shoes, bags, or hats?

A. — By rubbing gently with an emeryboard such as is used for manicuring.

Junior Editors Quiz on WATER SKIING

QUESTION: Isn't water skiing dangerous?

ANSWER: This sport certainly looks dangerous. What if the skier should lose his or her balance and fall? Couldn't she get tangled by the tow line or skiis? Suppose a ski stunned her with a blow? Might she not sink before the boat could turn around?

All sports have a certain risk, but there is only a very slight chance of these disasters happening to a water skiier. First, they wear flotation belts which would hold them up in the water in case of accident. Secondly, a skier lets go of the handle at once if she begins to lose her balance, so the rope is carried ahead out of her way. Third, she falls over sideways, tending to avoid entanglement with the skiis. Fourth, the skier pulls her feet out of the tough but flexible rubber boots attached to the skiis. Their shape (see illustration) means they stay snug around the foot in normal skiing position. But, because of the flexibility of the rubber heel part of the boot, the foot can be instantly pulled out, either backwards or sideways. Another precaution is almost always taking having someone in the boat facing the skier, watching him or her at all times to be sure nothing dangerous is happening.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: There are likely to be plenty of pictures of water skiers in summer magazines. Go through some of them looking for the safety measures we have mentioned. You probably won't see the rubber boots, but can detect the safety belt and someone on the boat watching the skier.

Eye Of Betsy

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Woman Flew Through It 16 Times

ABERDEEN, N.C. (AP) — The wall of Hurricane Betsy was black. The winds tossed the aircraft like a toy, first up and down and then sideways.

Once inside the eye of the storm, white fluffy clouds appeared. The winds were no more. Temperatures suddenly rose 10 to 15 degrees. Ears popped and cracked.

Below were the Andros Islands in the Bahamas. The damage of the hurricane was clearly visible.

These are the memories of Page Shamburger, who became one of the first women to fly into the eye of a hurricane.

She rode through the winds of Betsy 16 times.

Miss Shamburger, a pilot since 15 years of age, was invited by the Air Force to join a two-day tracking of the hurricane that brought death and destruction to Florida and Louisiana.

The Air Force said she was the first woman ever to ride on a hurricane penetration flight.

Miss Shamburger rode in the Air Force four-engine plane on two 12-hour missions.

"We would penetrate the storm, fly into the eye and stay there 20 minutes collecting data for the Weather Bureau's national hurricance center," she said.

Miss Shamburger, one of the nation's top woman pilots, said there wasn't time to be frightened.

"We were busy every minute, taking pictures, making notes, recording pressures and other data to help learn more about hurricanes, and perhaps, some day, know how to handle them."

Miss Shamburger, who lives in Aberdeen, is 5-feet-3, and weighs 93 pounds.

How old?

"A lady," she said, "never tells her true age. I'm a lady and I'm not going to lie. We'll leave it there."

Jazz Pianist Duke Ellington Plays For 3,000 In Church

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A sellout crowd of 3,000 — paying up to $25 a seat — toe-tapped and applauded noisily as jazz pianist Duke Ellington played his form of church music in Grace Cathedral.

The Negro musician, saying "God has blessed" his career, played Thursday night for an audience which included the Rt. Rev. James A. Pike, Episcopal bishop of California, and members of San Francisco society.

"Duke Ellington has been endowed by God with the gift of genius," said the Very Rev. Julian Bartlett, dean of the Episcopal Cathedral on Nob Hill. "He and his company of artists make an offering to God of this concert."

Ellington, 66, played on a simple, temporary wooden platform behind the cathedral's impressive stone altar. He called the performance his "most important statement."

Ellington was backed by a group of 20, many of them jazz stars in their own right, such as Harry Carney, baritone saxaphone; Paul Gonsalves, tenor saxaphone, and Louie Bellson, drums. The group included vocalists and a dancer.

Most of the selections were Ellington's own compositions, including "New World a'Coming," the hit of the evening; "David Danced Before The Lord With All His Might," and "My People," his musical history of Negro people.

Boy Due Examination For Gunshot Wound

Mrs. Roy Stacey of Bloomfield said today her son, Daniel, 10, is scheduled to be examined by a physician again Monday for an apparent gunshot wound of the left arm which he suffered Tuesday afternoon while playing with a pony at his home.

X-rays at City Hospital confirmed a metal object about the size of a bullet is embedded in the flesh of the arm, but a physician said he will not attempt to remove it unless the object bothers the boy later, the mother said.

Mr. Stacey said she and her daughter heard what sounded like a gunshot from a wooded area near their home at the time Daniel was wounded. Later, more shots were heard from the same area, she related. The sheriff's office investigated the incident, as the Stacey home is in St. Clair Township.
